Standstill!!

Record snow brings activity to a halt

BURIED. Scenes like this one in Madison were common throughout the Quad-City area yesterday and today as a snowfall of approximately 17 inches buried cars and streets, bringing the area to a standstill. Few stores were open today and motorists were being advised not to venture out onto the roads, unless absolutely necessary.

Yesterday was a day to remember! Not since 1890 has the St. Louis metropolitan area experienced a snowfall of the magnitude which fell from the sky Saturday night. In the Quad-City area, the average snowfall reading was about 17 inches, but readings as deep as 23 inches were common in fields and snow drifts piled up several feet on highways.

Most Quad-Cityans today will share stories of trying to unbury cars from snow drifts, mechanical failures due to ice and snow in engines and the problems of attempting to maneuver in deep snow with glaze ice underneath it.

The difficult situation here was compounded by heavy rain all day Saturday, which flooded many streets and fields. That was followed by colder temperatures and blizzard conditions. Lack of visibility compounded the problem for Saturday night drivers, rushing to get home before streets were closed.

Even interstate highways experienced problems as there were reports of tractor trailers hitting snow drifts and coming to a halt side by side, blocking all lanes of some interstates. Most highways and streets were littered with abandoned and stuck vehicles and the problem was compounded Sunday when drivers attempted to move other autos and added them to the scores of vehicles stuck in the streets.

By Sunday, the entire Quad-City area was nearly at a dead standstill. Tow trucks were kept busy just pulling emergency vehicles out of ditches and there was no help for individuals, other than their own shovel power.

The main streets of the Quad-City area seemed in better condition than its surrounding communities. Granite City Street Department crews, commanded by the new street superintendent, Mac Warfield, worked round the clock attempting to keep three plow trucks, two highlifts and a backhoe operating. Approximately 20 street department employees have worked from the time the snow hit until the present moment, spelling each other for times of rest and sleep.

Warfield, who did not officially become street superintendent until today, by appointment of the mayor, said that when he saw the rate of snowfall Saturday night, he decided it was time he reported to duty to see if he could help.

Centralia fire disaster — could it happen here?

By GARY SCHNEIDER

Centralia, Mo. — could it happen here?

While many housewives in Centralia were preparing lunch late Thursday morning, their stoves began to gurgle and sputter. Soon, the sound increased almost to the level of thunder, forcing many to flee their homes, which then burst into flames if the owners did not act quickly enough to turn off the gas to the home meters.

As many as 30 homes burst into flames almost simultaneously, causing an estimated 200 firefighters to be called from up to 50 miles away to try and contain the fires.

Better system protects most local homes

The cause, it was established, was a sudden increase in the pressure of the natural gas distribution system which caused pilot lights to turn into blowtorches and stove burners to become the centers of flaming infernos. Some witnesses said that when the gas pressure increased from approximately four ounces per square inch to as much as 40 pounds per square inch, flames from stove burners rose through kitchen ceilings.

Could it happen here? Local officials agree that such a widespread surge of high gas pressure is impossible to the majority of buildings here, but it is possible that an individual area or house could experience such a surge.

With the exception of a few specific older areas, The Illinois Power gas distribution system here is the opposite of the system in Centralia, Mo., officials say. In Centralia, homes were supplied with low pressure gas and a main regulator served the entire town. There was no need, they thought, for each individual house to have a regulator.

In the Quad-City area, the majority of homes are served by high-pressure gas lines and the pressure is reduced by a regulator attached each home's gas meter. Illinois Power has only a few areas in the Quad-City area which still are served by low-pressure gas lines and the buildings served do not have regulators. The company hopes in the near future to phase out those low-pressure areas and complete the high-pressure system in which each house is equipped with a regulator and safety valve, William Olsen of IP said.

Areas served by low-pressure systems, similar to Centralia's, include portions of the downtown Granite City area on 19th Street from Adams Street to Grand Avenue, on Adams Street from 21st to 22nd Street; on 21st Street from Adams Street to Niedringhaus Avenue; on Cleveland Boulevard from 19th to 20th Street; and the alley between Grand and Madison Avenues from 19th to 20th Street, and a long stretch of 14th Street between McCambridge Avenue and Edwardsville Road.

Low pressure areas in Madison include Seventh Street between Madison and McCambridge avenues; on Iowa

Objections to sudden jump in cable TV fees

As Granite City Council members debate a $1 increase in South-Western Cable TV's basic cable rate, cable subscribers are receiving letters this week informing them the two pay TV movie rates are each going up another dollar.

The new increases came as a surprise to city officials who have met in three separate meetings with cable representatives recently, two committee and one general council session, where the major issue remained a $14 to $19 rate hike for seniors. The new charges will raise the total cable package for seniors to $21 (including basic cable, Home Box Office and the Movie Channel).

"These people aren't putting everything on the table," contended Seventh Ward Alderman Paul Ray Bowler, chairman of the finance committee, which is considering South-Western's rate request.

Bowler said the pay TV increases were not mentioned by South-Western representatives as recently as last week. Director of Community Programming Mary Hildebrand, one of the spokesmen for South-Western at the meetings, said she was aware of the other increases, but it had not been brought up in conversations with the mayor or council.

"The basic pay rates are the ones we have to discuss with city council," Mrs. Hildebrand said. Commenting on the complaints aimed at cable since the $1 basic rate hike request, she said, like taxes, "It is always difficult to go for a rate increase."

Bowler said that, as far as he is concerned, arbitration is the only answer since, "They are all at an impasse." Even before learning of the increase, Mayor Paul Schuler said the request "will possibly go to arbitration."

Bowler said he is upset that South-

Close senior aides office?

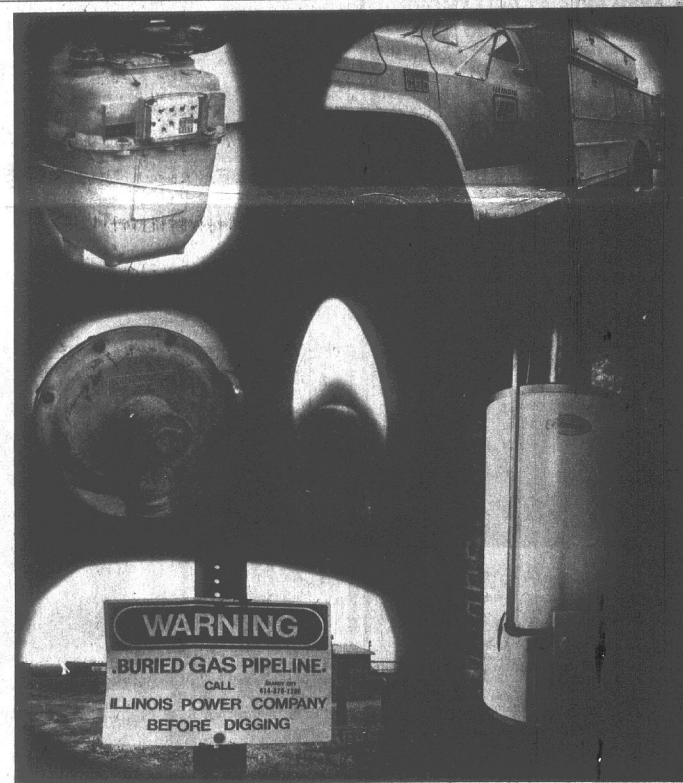

Another federal job finding agency in Granite City may be closing unless the U.S. Department of Labor reverses its budget decision in the next few days and continues to fund the Senior Aides program.

The program provides both part-time employment and on-the-job training to about 45 low-income seniors through its Granite City office, serving the Quad-Cities area, and provides about 17 local non-profit and government agencies with workers at no charge.

"We have people working into their 70s," said Madeline Simpson, program director. "These are people who need to work."

Madeline Simpson heads the area Senior Aides Program, which is headquartered at Belleville Area College. She said funding for the Senior Aides nationwide has been cut from the proposed U.S. Labor Department

Future dim for Lincoln Tech

By VALERIE EVENEDEN

Proposed reduction in federal funds financing CETA training programs may force enrollment to be curtailed beyond June, Dianne Rankin, Venice Lincoln Technical Center administrator, has advised the Venice Board of Education.

After CETA's fiscal year ends in September, it appears very unlikely that any money will be available to fund the present level of programs, Rankin said.

CETA tuition fees account for $120,000 in the adult educational-vocational school's current operating revenue.

Rankin made the remarks while reporting to the board that CETA program directors in both Madison and St. Clair counties have requested an increase in the number of nurse aide classes at Venice-Lincoln Technical Center to accommodate additional trainees from CETA programs.

The administrator said Madison County CETA has asked the adult vocational center to develop two new class-size units, geared to six-week sessions, while St. Clair CETA officials are requesting two extra classes be added to the current 12-week course.

Only one nurse aide class presently is listed in the school's curriculum, which is scheduled to start March 1, Rankin advised.

The director said representatives of both CETA programs were to visit the Venice-Lincoln Center to see if facilities there are adequate to expand the class schedule.

Agreement also will be sought from administrators at St. Mary's Hospital in East St. Louis, where nurse aide students attending the Venice-Lincoln classes acquire clinical experience.

Rankin said the proposed changes in curriculum must be submitted for state approval. If approval is granted, the new programs will bolster the overhead costs, the director noted.

"Staff-wise, I don't know yet what this means," he said, but he speculated that an additional part-time instructor (a qualified nurse) may be necessary.

Madison expands ambulance service

By MICK STRANGE
of the Press-Record
With the addition of three new State of Illinois Registered Emergency Medical Technicians (EMTs) the Madison Volunteer Fire Department has expanded their service to the city, beginning last week.

David Mooshegian, Steve Skoklo and Jeffrey L. Niehaus were officially appointed firemen, by the city council, after serving as cadets and being registered with the state as EMTs.

This brings the EMT strength up to 13 volunteer firemen.

In order to be registered with the state as an EMT a person must take 81 hours of intensive training and pass a state examination.

According to MFD Capt. Mike Mack, coordinator of the city operated ambulance service, this now allows enough men to have the service in operation from 8 p.m. to 6 a.m. regularly, seven days a week.

During the day at times when no EMTs are available ambulance service is provided by Granite City under a guaranteed payment program with the city. Capt. Mack said the MFD ambulance service can now handle emergency transfers from St. Elizabeth Medical Center to any hospital in the area, or take any patient to the hospital of their choice anywhere in the greater St. Louis area.

The ambulance personnel are volunteers and are only compensated when they actually make an ambulance call.

Capt. Mack said that with additional members of the MFD currently in EMT training within a few weeks they will have three men on duty, allowing one to go on a call and one on standby, should a fire develop somewhere.

The volunteer firemen are planning a fund raising project in the near future to raise funds to enlarge quarters at the station for the expanded services.

To obtain ambulance in Madison persons must telephone the police at 876-4300 day or night.

3 top $2 million in sales for 1981

Paul Hollis, Ken Neukam and Bill Weathers, agents in the Granite City branch office of Prudential's Alton district agency, each finished 1981 with more than $2 million in Prudential insurance sales credits. The branch office is at 10 Nameoki Village.

District Agency Manager Jerry Burkland, whose office is in Alton, said Weathers began his Prudential career in 1960. His sales record for 1981 marks the fourth consecutive year of similar high production achievements. Weathers lives here at 2419 Hemlock Ave. with his wife, Pat.

Neukam, with Prudential since 1975, resides in Collinsville with his wife, Karen, and their children. Hollis, 3318 Wabash Ave., Granite City, joined Prudential in 1975.

Jail lovely, jury room isn't—jurors

A contrast between the "lovely" county jail and the "drab and depressing" shelter care home was cited by the outgoing Madison County grand jury. It also is displeased with the grand jury meeting area.

Its report follows:
"The Grand Jury of Madison County, Ill., duly convened on Sept. 28, 1981, hereby submits its report (Jan. 23, 1982).

"1. We commend Circuit Judge A. A. Mateosian (of Granite City, chief criminal judge) of Madison County for his dedication to his work.

"We commend the members of the Madison County state's attorney's office for their expertise, diligence, and professionalism in the performance of their duties.

"We commend Jerry Lipchik (of Granite City), grand jury bailiff, for his pleasant, cheerful manner and positive, caring attitude toward the grand jurors.

"2. We recommend that future grand juries receive a more thorough orientation with regard to their role within the court system, so that the transition from one grand jury to the next will be smooth and efficient.

"3. The grand jury experienced frustration with the over-whelming responsibilities and pressures of having to handle a heavy docket in a very limited amount of time.

"The grand jury also suggests that the basement facilities of the Madison County Courthouse are not a suitable environment for the conducting of grand jury business.

"4. With respect to the Illinois Department of Children and Family Services: We recommend that the state's attorney closely monitor any and all referrals of sexual abuse to children, made to DCFS.

"We encourage DCFS to strictly follow the latest guidelines set out with regard to reporting all sexual abuse referrals to the state's attorney.

"5. The grand jury has inspected various county institution facilities and buildings, and makes the following recommendations:

"a) Madison County Jail: We were impressed with the efficiency of the staff, and cleanliness of the facilities, especially the kitchen area.

"We are concerned with the apparent lack of usable outdoor recreation facilities, and strongly recommend that the Madison County Board allocate funds to pay for the construction of a suitable outdoor recreation area.

"b) The Madison County Shelter Care Home: The staff members are to be commended for their attempt to work within limited facilities.

"The building is in a deteriorated condition, the kitchen is antiquated, and the rooms are cramped and dreary.

"It is disturbing to the jury to compare the lovely facilities of the County Jail with the drab and depressing environment of the Shelter Care Home.

"c) The Madison County Nursing Home: We were favorably impressed with the effective management and the staff efficient. We also recommended that the patients in general seem to be reasonably contented.

"d) The Madison County Tuberculosis Clinic: We are concerned that the public is not fully aware of all the services which are available at this facility.

"We recommend that steps be taken to increase the public's awareness of these services.

"e) The Madison County Detention Home: The grand jury felt that the facilities at the home were adequate, and the staff efficient. We suggest that the housekeeping and maintenance procedures be upgraded. We also recommended that the recreation room's ventilation be improved.

"f) We recommend that, in the future, more time be set aside for the grand jury to prepare and deliver its final report.

Virginia Jane Oram of Granite City was the grand jury foreman, Circuit Clerk Willard V. Fortell said.

The 23 members included Robert Earle Mosley Jr. of Madison, Ronald D. White of Venice, and Granite Cityans Henry William Ashaster Jr., Bernard Jenkins, Doris M. Teator, Harriet Mercer and Charles E. Bone.

Four telecourses available in area

A good response has been received from students who have taken a Belleville Area College telecourse. Telecourses were first offered in the fall semester and are being offered again this spring.

Jane Kourinos of Belleville, a student in the general psychology course, commented she was pleased with the course and has recommended it to her friends. She added, "Having to come to campus only twice for exams is a plus, leaving time for other necessary pursuits."

Students can contact by telephone a BAC instructor who is the on-campus coordinator for the TV course.

Registration for telecourses will be taken until Feb. 19 at 225-2700, extension 200.

General psychology is one of four offered in the spring 1982 semester. The three-credit class will be aired at 8:15 a.m. Wednesday and Friday, Feb. 17 to May 8, on KETC-TV, Channel 8. The repeat time will be 8 a.m. Saturdays for the Wednesday tape and 8:30 a.m. Saturdays for the Friday tape.

The home gardener, a three-credit class, will air at 7:30 a.m. Mondays and 7 a.m. Thursdays, beginning Jan. 25, on WSUTV-TV, Channel 8. The repeat time will be 7 a.m. Tuesdays or 1 a.m. Saturdays for the Monday tape and 7:30 a.m. Fridays and 1:30 p.m. Saturdays for the Thursday tape.

Introduction to data processing, a three-credit class, will be shown at 6:15 a.m. Tuesdays, Feb. 9 to May 8, on KETC-TV, Channel 8, America: The Second Century, a four-credit class, will be presented at 8 a.m. Sundays, Feb. 14 to May 8, on Channel 8.

Tapes of the classes are also available at the BAC library, 2500 Carlyle Road, Belleville.

KELLIE RATLIFF

Essay winner at GC school

Kellie Ratliff, a pupil of St. Elizabeth School, is a class winner in a power plant essay contest sponsored by Illinois Power Company. She received a dictionary and a certificate from Carol Frische, energy use adviser, in late January.

The sixth grade class toured the Wood River power station with their instructor, Sister M. Agnes, and parents. The tour included coal handling facilities, the water treatment plant, the control room, generation equipment, and a film on the generation of electricity. Each April, winning essays are grouped by Illinois Power service areas and the best essay written is then selected for a grand prize of two shares of Illinois Power stock. Kellie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ratliff. The tour was arranged by Sister Margaret Mary, principal of St. Elizabeth School.

Memorial to Dr. Jacob Cohen installed in lobby at SEMC

In memory of Dr. Jacob Cohen, members of his family contributed money for a photo display that would reflect the involvement of Dr. Cohen and St. Elizabeth Medical Center in the community. Dr. Cohen had been a practicing physician in Granite City for more than 40 years. He received his medical degree from the University of Illinois in 1933 and was a member of the St. Elizabeth Medical Center staff from 1938 until his death in February, 1981. He was the Director of the Socially Transmitted Disease Clinic at SEMC and was primarily responsible for organizing the clinic. Last April, Dr. Cohen was named the 1981 recipient of the Illinois Public Health Association's Award of Merit.

This award is given annually "to an individual, group of individuals, or agency who has made outstanding contributions of major significance to the public health movement." The Cohen Memorial Display, located in the main lobby of SEMC, features photographs taken locally.

Photos for the display were taken by Medical Staff Member Dr. Albert Tritani and Dana Linsley of the SEMC Public Relations Department.

Robber invades doctor's office

A blond-haired man, about 24 years old, using a white handkerchief to cover the lower part of his face, tried to force Dr. Pantelis Spakos, 23, of 2801 Saratoga Ave., to give him a pad of blank prescription forms at the latter's office last week.

When the physician offered the man a pad of white prescription forms, the robber said, "No, I mean a pack of green prescriptions from the file cabinet," Madison police reported.

At that point the man grabbed a metal letter opener, pointed it at Dr. Spakos and demanded that he open the cabinet. The robber then turned the physician around, placing the letter opener against his back and forced him into a rear office.

As he closed the office door, the robber said, "Don't open the cabinet until I tell you to."

While in the back room, the doctor said he heard the man throw the telephone on the floor and destroy the drawers being opened and closed.

Upon checking the files, the physician reported a pad of green prescription forms was missing from the cabinet.

Arrest three after incident

Two men and a woman, walking in the 2000 block of Madison Avenue at 3:20 a.m. Saturday, were arrested after allegedly being involved with a motorist in a car accident in the same block.

A patrolling officer saw a stalled vehicle at Madison Avenue and 20th Street, and told by the driver, Linda Chism, 208 Briarwood Drive, that she had been harassed by three people who had kicked the car, used obscene language and thrown something at her and a passenger.

The officer observed Andrew L. Forehand, 30, of 2400 Grand Ave., Carroll E. Sauerwin, 17, of 2040 Grand Ave., and Carolyn J. Smith, 25, of 2502 Kirkpatrick Homes, walking a short distance away from the scene and stopped the trio.

Allegedly removed from Forehand's pocket was a brown leather case containing a weapon and disorderly conduct. Sauerwin and Mrs. Smith were charged with disorderly conduct.

WAIVES EXTRADITION Shirley Walker, 23, of Nameoki Road, Lot 13, was arrested there on a warrant, issued by the Pulaski County Sheriff's Department in Arkansas, at 8 a.m. Friday. She appeared before a judge at 2:40 p.m. and waived extradition. A mittimus was issued and she was transferred to Madison County Jail at Edwardsville at 4:30 p.m. Friday.

Charge GC man in gun incident

An information was issued Thursday by the Madison County state's attorney's office, charging Gary L. Brazel, 23, of 2801 Saratoga Ave., with a felony count of unlawful use of a weapon. The charge resulted from an incident occurring at 5:05 p.m. Wednesday, Jan. 27, when Brazel walked up to a vehicle, parked in the 700 block of Alton Avenue, Madison, and allegedly struck Randy Shelton, 1912 Fifth St., Madison, in the head.

Shelton, who was seated in the vehicle with a friend, jumped out and grabbed Brazel, who an officer approaching him alleged the man attempted to discard a weapon in the rear yard of a residence.

About 20 minutes later, Brazel was seen on Highland Avenue, between 4th and 5th streets, and an officer approaching him alleged the man attempted to discard a weapon in the rear yard of a residence.

A .25 caliber automatic was recovered and Brazel was arrested. At the scene of the incident, four spent cartridges and one live round were found.

Brazel also was charged by Madison police with not having a Firearm Owner's Identification card and discharging a weapon within the city limits. A fourth charge was subsequently dropped.

Two hours after the arrest, Brazel was found in his jail cell with his clothing torn and a reddish area on his neck. He told officers he had tried to hang himself with the garments.

At 3:30 p.m. Thursday, Brazel was taken to the emergency room at St. Elizabeth Medical Center for treatment of a slight wound to the wrist, which he had injured with a plastic fork.

Also Thursday, Brazel appeared before a judge who set bond at $20,000. A mittimus was issued and he was transferred at 7:55 a.m. Friday to Madison County Jail at Edwardsville.

Helicopter aids Madison woman

Mrs. Frankie Watt, of 815 Franklin St., Madison, was taken by emergency helicopter today at 10:30 a.m. to a Belleville hospital where she needed to be placed on a special kidney machine.

Arrangements were made by the Madison Ambulance Service with Granite City Ambulance Service. An ambulance picked her up and took her to the parking lot of First Assembly of God Church, 2300 Madison Ave., where the large parking lot was cleared by GC snowplows in order for the helicopter to land. Both GC and Madison police assisted in the transfer.

TROUBLEMAKER CRACKS WINDSHIELD

Sherry Ogden, 3025 Ash Ave., reported her vehicle was followed by a small black over white auto from Bellmore Village Parking lot at 12:10 a.m. Saturday, with the driver then blocking her car from making a left turn onto St. Clair Avenue from Nameoki Road.

The woman said the Granite in Kozak store parking area at 2600 Nameoki Road, still being followed by the black and white car. In the lot, a second vehicle pulled in front of her car and a man got out, saying "Lady, you're in trouble now."

The man then struck and broke the windshield of Miss Ogden's vehicle, she told police.

Executives appointed at GC Steel

Edward L. Sambuchi has become vice-president of operations at the Granite City Steel Division of National Steel Corporation, succeeding Arthur A. Kuhlman, who retired in January.

David A. Chatfield has become Granite City Steel vice-president of quality control, succeeding Elroy M. Cueto, who also retired in January.

Sambuchi until now was assistant to Robert D. McBride, president of the Great Lakes Steel Division near Detroit.

Joining National Steel in 1958 at Great Lakes, he held such posts there as maintenance manager and general plant superintendent. Sambuchi received a bachelor degree in electrical engineering from Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Troy, N. Y.

Chatfield until now was superintendent of finishing and galvanizing at the Midwest Steel Division, Portage, Ind., near Chicago. Earlier, he held positions in plant metallurgy at Midwest Steel and in research at National Steel's research and development facility in Weirton, W. Va.

He earned a bachelor degree at the University of Cincinnati and a master's and doctoral degrees in metallurgical engineering at Ohio State University.

Kuhlman, born in Troy, Ill., attended Washington University in St. Louis, joining Granite City Steel in 1943 as a laborer after his World War II Army service in Europe.

He handled maintenance and planning assignments until being named area maintenance superintendent at the open hearth in 1961. Kuhlman later served as cold strip superintendent and divisional superintendent of rolling and finishing, and divisional superintendent of maintenance and services.

He became a general manager of operations in 1968, general superintendent of finishing in 1972 and vice-president of operations in January 1975.

Cueto was promoted in January 1979 from chief metallurgist in the department of metallurgy and quality control to vice-president of quality control.

He became a junior metallurgist at the local plant in June 1949 and held various positions in the department of metallurgy and inspection before being transferred to the operating department. His titles included assistant general superintendent of finishing (1972) and general superintendent of finishing (1975).

Cueto returned to the metallurgy department in 1977 and became chief metallurgist that September. The native East St. Louisan, a Navy officer in the Pacific theater in World War II, obtained a metallurgical engineering degree at the University of Missouri-Rolla.

Granite City Steel President James V. Stack said last week that the first 1982 quarter and part of the second quarter will be a continuation of the last few months of 1981—a level of about 75 to 80 percent of normal production bookings and steel shipments.

He said there will be emphasis this year on quality steel shipped on time, with costs limited to offset prevailing U.S. problems—high interest rates, an economic recession, dumping of foreign steel at less than its cost, the slow auto sales pattern, and the impact of inflation on raw materials, fuel and supplies.

Stack said the local plant is increasing the number of grades of steel it can produce on its new continuous caster. Rebuilding of the B coke battery is to be completed in mid-year.

Centralia fire

Street from Seventh to 12th Streets (three blocks) in the Westinghouse Avenue along the same three blocks. Officials of Illinois Power agree that these areas are protected only by single company-operated regulators and safety valves with no backup systems. In the unlikely circumstances of one of these regulators malfunctioning and the safety valve failing, the Illinois Power of Madison or Granite City could experience gas pressure surges similar to Centralia, Mo., and multiple fires could result.

However, Illinois Power officials contend that the chances of malfunctions in both the regulators and the safety valves are almost beyond the realm of possibility. The system has been extremely safe nationwide and deemed almost fail-safe, until Thursday.

The National Transportation Safety Board will investigate the accident at Centralia and will issue a complete report, which will be distributed to all gas companies. "If anything comes from their report, we would take additional measures to protect against it happening here," Olsen said.

Persons wishing to determine if their homes or businesses are serviced by high pressure gas need only look at the gas meter. If the meter is the kind of the kind it has a "umbrella-like" disc shaped attachment, that is the regulator and the home is serviced by high-pressure gas. Olsen said the regulator appears on today's front page.

Lack of such a regulator means that the home or building is serviced by low pressure gas, similar to Centralia, Mo.

The Centralia situation developed when the main regulator between the pipeline and the city was damaged when a backhoe operated by a city employee struck a control mechanism to the regulator. Somehow, the safety valve failed, and the gas pressure rose, allowing high pressure gas to reach the homes and businesses, which were not equipped with individual regulators.

Officials say they are not entirely sure why the safety valve did not blow open, which would have released the excess gas into the atmosphere, rather than allowing the sudden rise in the gas pressure and the resulting fires.

Here, in the high pressure areas, a malfunction in an individual home regulator is possible, but not likely, according to Granite City Fire Chief Don Parente. "We haven't had any fires caused by a malfunction of the regulator," he said. Thinking further back, he said he does not even recall a fire here blamed on a fault of the regulator. "It is much more likely that a fire went to the outdoors, rather than to allow the full pressure into the house," he said. Illinois Power Co. officials agree. The home regulator is "a critical part of the piece of equipment," according to Earl Affolter, gas distribution superintendent. For the few dollars each regulator costs, it provides invaluable protection of the home from surges, such as that experienced in Centralia, Mo.

He said that only about one or two

Western had not told the council of the additional raises and he called the omission a distortion. The city does not have the power to regulate pay TV rates for HBO and Movie Channel. The Collinsville City Council already had approved South-Western's request when they learned of the new charges. Mayor Gene Brown said the city of South-Western last week sharply criticizing the company for not disclosing its intentions to the council.

David Olson, first assistant administrator, had told Granite City and Collinsville city officials when the $1 basic rate hike was requested that further rate increases would not be anticipated in the next year.

Collinsville's mayor wrote, "I feel this to be deceptive, in view of additional fees being sought currently for HBO and Movie Channel. Your firm must have been aware of these increases and to withhold this information was an extremely unfair practice," he contended in the letter.

The new rates will raise basic with The Movie Channel to $17 and basic plus HBO to $17.75. The rate for both pay channels, plus basic, will be $24. The new prices go into effect today. The Board President Jack Tolliver congratulated Rate Review members pointment to the new Illinois County Finance Study Committee, authorized by the State Board of Education.

"We realize the recognition that is afforded this school district by his appointment," Tolliver said.

In a special session prior to last week's meeting, the board members heard school status reports for the first semester from Principal John Rush and Assistant Principal Clarence Hand.

Hand said present enrollment at the Venice Grade School is 389, with a total of 112 pupils being transported by bus from Eagle Park, 77 from Venice and 11 pupils from other districts.

Attendance averaged 90 percent for the first semester, about one percent lower than last year. He noted, however, that quite a few students new to the district were enrolled in Sep-

PRECAUTIONS WITH NATURAL GAS

Here are some suggestions from Illinois Power Co. and Illinois Bell if you smell natural gas in your home.

1. If the smell is not too strong, open some windows and evacuate the home. Do not use a telephone or call the Illinois Power service number, 876-1353. 2. If the gas smell is strong, do not wait to open windows. Evacuate the house immediately. Do not use the telephone or turn any switches or fans in the house on or off. Turning a switch or picking up the telephone and dialing creates small sparks which can ignite the gas. Do not smoke.

3. Do not use the telephone or turn any switches or fans in the house on or off. Turning a switch or picking up the telephone and dialing creates small sparks which can ignite the gas. Do not smoke. 4. After Illinois Power has declared the problem solved, turn the gas on at the meter and relight all pilot lights. Do not forget the furnace, water heater, stove, oven, clothes dryer or other gas-fired appliances. Follow directions in relighting the pilot lights.

5. Check frequently in the area where the problem was to determine that there is no gas smell and that the pilot lights have stayed ignited.

7. Occasionally check the gas meter to be sure the valve is not leaking. If a hissing sound is heard, contact Illinois Power immediately, to the point where a leak is suspected, contact Illinois Power Co.

times a year do Illinois Power Co. crews have to replace a home regulator, and that is almost always because of the pressure exerted by the regulator. It is designed to leak, rather than allowing the pressure in the home to exceed 6 1/2 inches of pressure, which is equal to the pressure exerted by a 6 1/2 inch tall column of water on each square inch at the base. It translates to about four ounces of pressure per square inch, which is the same as the average home in Centralia received.

In comparison to the four ounces of pressure per square inch which enters the majority of Quad-City houses, gas is received by Illinois Power from gas pipelines which vary from 200 to 400 pounds per square inch at the intake of the local distribution system.

A double system of protection keeps that pressure from reaching the lines to homes. At the end of the line, an assistant to Service Area Manager Carl Mathias, explained.

The pressure is reduced twice, by two separate regulators, each having its own safety valve, designed to blow to the outside. "If the first one should fail, the second one would be able to handle it," Affolter said.

Amazingly, each of the company-owned regulators has its safety valve tested by using gas lines to increase the pressure to the regulator and being sure that the relief valves blow. "They are very reliable," Affolter contended.

By the time the gas has gone through the two regulators at each entry point in the system, the city's distribution system at about 35 pounds of pressure per square inch. That is the pressure received by most homes.

Each one in a high pressure area actually is protected by two additional regulators with safety mechanisms, the officials said. The first, attached to the main gas line, is designed to begin leaking into the outside air if the pressure going into the home reaches or exceeds about 10 inches of pressure per square inch.

The second, on every furnace, reduces the pressure to 3 1/2 inches per square inch, which is the standard pressure furnaces require. Excess pressure at either of these regulators will cause the safety mechanism to cut off the flow of gas.

Presumably, homes in Centralia, Mo., had the regulators to their furnaces, but, Affolter says, "I'm not sure about the kind of kind of had (up to 40 pounds per square inch)."

However, even if the furnace regulator between Centralia turned the gas off to the furnaces, the pressure to stove and water heater pilot lights was enough to start the fires, sources indicated.

There were descriptions of pilot lights shooting flames six and seven feet into the air, catching kitchen cabinets on fire.

Could it happen here? That is a question the National Transportation Safety Board may answer when it completes its investigation of Centralia's tragedy. There will never be any such thing as a completely safe gas system, but Illinois Power has pledged to take every possible precaution to service its customers in a safe manner as is possible with the resources and manpower it has, officials said.

Officials have gone so far as to put guard barriers between Maryville Road traffic and the substation which distributes gas to the Glenview Area. A main concern would be damage to the gas lines, which would require that the gas be shut off to the whole area during repairs. If that occurred, crews would have to go to each home, turn off the gas, reclose the channels and then travel house to house to turn on the gas and light the pilot lights.

Centralia's plight was, admittedly, a freak accident—involving two break-downs simultaneously. Local officials believe the odds against that happening here are extremely small. However, all eyes will be on Centralia while officials try to determine exactly what went wrong and "Could it happen elsewhere?"

that when the station is put into operation, camera and lighting equipment will be kept in Granite City. However, no equipment is kept in Edwardsville's local access studio, where the local security would be a problem.

South-Western presently has two portable video cameras to serve all areas, including channels in Granite City, Edwardsville and Highland, in addition to any portable programming South-Western's central Channel 1 station might wish to perform. That station also serves as a local access channel for smaller surrounding communities. Channel 1 has three of its own cameras.

She said Edwardsville has shown little interest in taping its own programming and only recently received a request from the Edwardsville School administrators who want to present a different topic to the community each week.

Upon recommendation of the personnel committee, which interviewed three candidates, members hired Joseph Busch as a part-time instructor in the machine shop at Venice-Lincoln Technical Center.

Bunetic will share overall responsibilities with Ken Badgley, a former CETA referral trainee, who is current assistant principal.

Also hired was Ann Mullins, a former Title VII teacher, who will teach remedial math four hours each day. Her employment was subject to approval of a budget amendment, Supt. of School Robert N. Vickers said.

The board authorized the issuance of anti-poison warrants to meet the Feb. 12 payroll.

At the request of Board Member Gerald Cicio, the board's meeting dates were changed. The first and third Monday of each month in March. Previously, members met on the second and fourth Monday.

No meeting is scheduled tonight, however. The board's next session will take place Monday, Feb. 15.

The street department already had its hands full when the snow hit. The heavy rains of Saturday had flooded many streets, and when the snow hit, the worst, being covered with an estimated 2 1/2 feet of water. The street department barricaded both ends of the street, but, Warfield said, many people ignored the barricades and their cars stalled in the water.

Last night, street department succeeded in removing the stalled cars and opening West Pontoon Road. Another major problem was clearing a path to the sewage treatment plant, where workers were unable to get in or out.

Today, the situation was not much better. Most businesses were expected to close today and convenience stores reported that they were running out of milk and bread and may have to close. Many cars remained buried and those along major streets who were unable to move. The street department found the problems compounded by snow plows with literally buried many cars, particularly along Madison Avenue.

Plows and crews did little to respond to fires in those areas after midnight last night, due to unpaid bills for fire calls. But, Name Township Supervisor Harry P. Pugh said, an agreement Saturday with the State Park Fire Department to provide temporary fire protection until the state fire department could be to a fire district today or tomorrow.

State Park estimated its response time to East Madison would be eight minutes, but that was before the big snow hit.

Ambulance calls were difficult in the Granite City, Madison, Venice area, where the main streets were plowed but the side streets remained untouched.

In Pontoon Beach, concern that ambulances would be unable to provide sufficient service led to approximately 13 Long Lake volunteer firefighters spending the night at the fire hall, manning three vehicles with first aid capability. Police were told that if emergencies existed, the firefighters would transport those in need of medical service to the St. Elizabeth Medical Center. Fortunately, their help was not needed.

The Madison and Venice street departments said that stalled cars in the streets presented their major problem, since it was impossible to plow around many of the cars.

The vehicles had been removed from the major streets and some side streets equipment fared better, but only because it was closer to the street garage, where it could be "thawed" from time to time. "We had some problems with the equipment from the slush, but we would bring in the frozen equipment and heat it up," Warfield said.

Snow plows became frozen until the plows could not be hoisted or lowered and the sold and slush caused other problems which could be cured only with heat, he noted.

Abandoned cars in the streets were a major problem for street crews. On Madison Avenue at Nameoki Road, a car lodged in a drift in the turnoff lane onto Madison Avenue made it necessary to plow a path over the median for northbound cars turning left onto Madison Avenue. That car was removed later this morning and the proper path was cleared, street workers said.

For East Madison and the Glenview Addition near Madison, fire was a major concern. Madison held to its pledge and crews did little to respond to fires in those areas after midnight last night, due to unpaid bills for fire calls. But, Name Township Supervisor Harry P. Pugh said, an agreement Saturday with the State Park Fire Department to provide temporary fire protection until the state fire department could be to a fire district today or tomorrow.

The vehicles had been removed from the major streets and some side streets by this morning, but police in both cities are appealing to motorists to stay home, unless absolutely necessary.

Madison police said those who find it necessary to drive other than on Madison Avenue should use Third and Sixth and 12th Streets for east-west traffic. Those streets will be kept as clear as possible, but it is doubtful that the other side streets can be adequately maintained.

Madison Explorer Post 10-4 used a four-wheel drive vehicle yesterday to assist stranded motorists. Dispatched by the police, the Explorers aided 32 motorists in trouble during the day.

Madison is making a limited amount of emergency food and medicine available to its residents, but are urging everyone not to ask for assistance unless absolutely necessary.

Persons in need of vital medicine or food may call the Madison police at 876-4300 and a four-wheel drive vehicle will be dispatched with aid. They stressed that the calls will be screened and only emergency situations will be answered.

The Illinois State Police at Maryville also are urging everyone to stay off the roads, unless absolutely necessary. The interstate highways were closed this morning and were likely to remain closed much of today while stranded vehicles are removed and the highways are plowed.

Sunday, only two of the 12 state police cruisers could be put into service, but officials reported that the district was nearly at full strength today.

As with any disaster, the job of rebuilding becomes the next priority. Canopies and flat porch roofs throughout the area collapsed under the heavy snow, including a large canopy in the 2100 block of Woodlawn Avenue and a canopy on a auto dealership in Madison Avenue.

Many Quad-City residents planned to use today to continue digging their cars out of the mountains of snow and enlisting help in jump starting those which were disabled by the cold and wet weather. Mechanics are expecting a very busy and long day and tow truck operators expect all the calls they can handle, and more.

Businesses began arranging carpools today, planning to be able to resume business tomorrow, unless the predicted snow is too bad, adding to the already paralyzing sheet of white over the area.

St. Louis news organizations reported that the program will continue. One story said 22 vehicles, including a Greyhound bus, were involved in a pileup on Interstate 70 near Louisville.

Even snow plows were reported abandoned when they struck snow drifts too deep to handle.

Bunker Hill trounces Venice cagers 72-56

By ROGER CRAMER
for the Press-Record
Bunker Hill-Bunker Hill's 72-56 victory over Venice here Saturday was a classic example of how a well-rested team could control a game that was flat after an outstanding performance the evening before.

Even though Venice lost at East St. Louis Lincoln 60-45 on Friday, the Red Devils had played well. Only the Tigers rebounding strength kept Venice from keeping the game close.

"We played hard against Lincoln," Venice Coach Ken Perkins said, "We gave everything we had against Lincoln, but we had a game against a team tonight we had to put everything into and we spent it all last night."

The Minutemen 16 and 2 for the season, had not played since Jan. 22, when they lost to Staunton in the McCoin County Tournament.

"This is the best game we've played all year," Bunker Hill Coach John Halka said. "We thought this game was going to be a tough game, because we saw them against Lincoln and I thought Venice was fantastic against Lincoln. Perhaps they were a little bit down."

Perkins said, "Bunker Hill knew we played well against Lincoln and they were rested and they got their boys up for it. You don't go on the road and win here."

Venice trained 16 to 13 after one quarter, but the Red Devils were flatter than the score indicated. Venice made only five of 16 shots from the field. The Red Devils were getting their shots, both inside and outside, but the shots wouldn't go in.

Gant Harper, a relative of former Collinsville great Bogie Redmon, was the catalyst for Bunker Hill in the first half. Harper, who led all scorers with 24 points, scored 16 points in the first half.

"We were expecting their guards, Kyle McLaughlin and Mike Halka, to do a lot of the scoring, but we knew they would be working the ball around to find a good shot. There is not too many better passing teams we have seen than Bunker Hill, but it was just our inability to stop them that made them successful," Perkins said.

South cagers win two during weekend

MASCOUTAH — It was a good weekend for Granite City South. Despite the frigid weather, the Warriors won two games in a row.

Saturday night South dumped Mascoutah 68-53. That came on the heels of Friday's 66-50 victory over Belleville Althoff at home.

Against Mascoutah the Warriors broke open a close game in the second quarter and increased the lead the rest of the game.

With the score tied 12-12 after the first quarter, South outscored the Indians 20-13 in the second quarter.

The Warriors were led by Joe Schneke, who pumped in 22 points. Pat Linhart scored 14 and cousin John Linhart scored 11 for the Warriors. Tom Miller also had 11.

The victory was South's third in a row and made its record 6-11. Mascoutah suffered its 14th loss in 16 games.

Steelers slide past Panthers 61-58

By PETE HAYES
for the Press-Record
O'FALLON — Granite City's North-Basketball coach Bill Ohlendorf knew a tough game was in the coming here Saturday night.

O'Fallon, the scheduled opponent, had been playing very well. They played tough in the Belleville East Tournament and we knew they'd be up for us, especially at home.

But the Panthers probably weren't ready for something that North tossed at them — a stingy defense. The Steelers held O'Fallon to only 13 points in the first quarter and hawked them all night with a tough man-to-man defense.

"Defense was the key to the game," said Ohlendorf. "We played a very tight man-to-man and it worked."

The problem for the Steelers is the first quarter. They scored only 9 points by O'Fallon, but in the second quarter things started turning around for Granite North.

North outscored the Panthers 25-18 in the second quarter to take a 34-31 lead into the locker room at halftime.

That second quarter scoring surge by the Steelers turned out to be the offense difference in the game. The two teams played even in both the third and fourth quarters.

North was led in scoring by Harold Rody. He played a game high 23 points. Carl Luehmman with 11 points was the only other Steeler in double figures. Gary Helman paced the Panthers with 20 points.

Holding on to a three-point lead going into the fourth period, the Steelers went to their delay-game tactics. The way they handled the ball under that kind of pressure pleased Ohlendorf.

Musso named to Hall of Fame

Sunday, 71-year-old George Musso walked out on the field at halftime of the Pro Bowl in Hawaii to be recognized for an honor a lot of people thought should have come to him long ago.

The announcement was made at halftime that Musso, a former Chicago Bear, a pro tackle and guard, will be inducted into the Professional Football Hall of Fame in Canton, Ohio, this summer.

Musso, a long-time Madison County official until his retirement in 1978, now lives in Edwardsville. He was born and reared in Chillicothe.

Musso and wife Pauline received the good news last Monday, but weren't suppose to tell. He learned his selection when Pete Elliott, a former University of Illinois coach who is now director of the Hall of Fame, called.

"Elliott asked if I'd like an expense paid trip to Hawaii," said Musso. "And I said I sure would."

News of the Hall of Fame selections broke in Washington later last week. Sam Huff, a former player with the Washington Redskins and New York Giants will also be inducted into the Hall of Fame. He spilled the beans.

"That's a big-mouth linebacker for you," Musso joked. "I've been retired from football for 38 years. I didn't know if I'd ever make it into the Hall of Fame."

"We're very happy," he said. "Pauline's feet haven't touched the ground yet."

Along with Musso and Huff, former Los Angeles Rams player Merlin Olsen has also been elected to the Hall of Fame. Musso said his own selection was approved by both the veterans' committee and the regular Hall of Fame committee.

Musso had been employed by Madison County since 1933, which was also his first year with the Bears.

He served as a sheriff's deputy 14 years, taking a leave of absence every football season for 12 of those years to play football.

Musso was elected sheriff of Madison County in 1958, treasurer in 1962, sheriff again in 1970 and treasurer again in 1974. He signed on with the Bears at $90 a day after his graduation from Millikin University in Decatur, where he lettered in four sports.

When Musso played for Chicago, the Bears won the Western Division of the National Football League "just about every year," he said.

One unforgettable game was against the Redskins for the championship in 1940. This is what Musso said about that game in a 1977 interview:

"Well, George Marshall, the owner of the Redskins, said that the Bears were a first-half team and if you stayed with them the first half you could roll over 'em in the second."

"Halas (George, Chicago's head coach) didn't give us any pep talk before the game. He went out and got a whole bunch of the papers where Marshall said that and he pasted them all over the locker room."

"That got us fired up, all right. We went out and beat Washington 75-0. Everything we did was right. Everything they did was wrong. They didn't have a chance. Football has seen dramatic changes since Musso's playing days. He doesn't view all those changes as changes."

In the football of Musso's day, players played both offense and defense. Musso liked being able "to take it and give it."

He says modern football players use their helmets as weapons. In the old days the helmets were leather and weren't required.

Noting the difference in salaries between modern pro football players and the salaries then, Musso said, "I often remind George Halas of the time I played for $90 a game and he laughs."

Among those delighted with Musso's Hall of Fame selection is Madison County Circuit Clerk Willard "Butch" Portell, who was a balliff when Musso was a deputy sheriff and who has continued to be a close personal friend through the years.

"I say he should have been honored a long, long time ago. I think it is long overdue," Portell said.

Kahok girls run over South cagers

By JEFF WILSON of the Press-Record
GRANITE CITY — In practice before Thursday night's girls basketball game against Granite City North's Steelers, Collinsville's Susan Pitot missed the majority of her shots. When the game began, however, her shooting success returned.

In what was Pitot's finest offensive game ever, she made 10 baskets on 17 attempts and added two free throws to lead the Kahoks past North 64-32. But that wasn't the biggest surprise of the game.

The biggest surprise was the way she did it — unguarded and untouched. "I'm surprised that in the second half they didn't put pressure on my side and Janet's (Fraundorf's), Pitot said. "They didn't try to stop us."

You couldn't blame a deceptive approach by Pitot as being the reason the Steelers ignored her. She wasted little time making her presence felt, hitting five quick outside shots and getting the Kahok's first 10 points. But even that surge didn't change North's game plan.

The Steelers sagged back, never attempting to take the shot away from Pitot, but things weren't supposed to be that way. "The last thing I told the girls before they came out of the locker room was 'We've got to get on 35 (Pitot), and we've got to get on 45 (Fraundorf)," said North coach Harry Cook. "They didn't, and they learned their lesson."

In fact, the Kahoks taught the Steelers a lesson in offense. Pitot, Fraundorf and junior forward Jean Jordan combined to score 17 of Collinsville's 19 second-quarter points and put the game out of reach at 33-11.

It was Pitot, however, who kept the Steelers reeling. "She was hitting the perimeter," said Collinsville coach Foz Ryan. "We've been having trouble with that, but her shooting tonight broke the game open."

Nine of Pitot's 10 baskets were from the outside.

In the final quarter, North attempted a comeback. Center Trina Davis scored seven points and Triah Atkinson scored three to pull the Steelers closer, but missed shots earlier in the game couldn't be made up.

All-Staters honored

ST. LOUIS — The Press-Record Pepsi-Cola Illinois All-State Soccer team was honored here Friday at halftime of the St. Louis Steamers-Memphis Americans indoor soccer game at the Checker Dome.

Members of the squad, along with members of the Missouri All-State team were introduced to the standing-room-only crowd of 18,000.

Because of hazardous highway conditions, members of the All-State team from the Chicago area were not able to attend the game. Illinois

All-Staters who were able to get to the Checker Dome were Gerry Modglin and Matt Massa from 1981 state champion Collinsville; Steve Trittschuh from Granite City North; and David Par, Jr., LeMaster and Greg White from Granite City South.

Illinois All-Staters received personalized All-State plaques at the game. Other All-Staters in the Chicago area will receive their plaques later from Conrad Kroyal of the Chicago Sting. The Steamers won the game over Memphis 7-4.

Summers to attend roast Feb. 21

GRANITE CITY — John "Champ" Summers, who was "discovered" by Roy E. Lee at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, will attend the Roast & Dinner for Coach Lee Sunday, Feb. 21, at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Edwardsville. Early ticket sales point to a 400 to 500 person turnout.

Summers, a major league ball player for eight years, is currently a member of the Detroit Tigers. He started his career as a member of the Oakland farm system.

However, when the Madison, Ill. native was preparing to enter his senior year at SIUE-Edwardsville in the Fall of 1970, the thirdest thing from his mind was the sport of baseball. In fact, Summers had never played any organized baseball up until that time. He'd played football, baseball, golf, tennis and a lot of swimming and diving, but no baseball. Oh, it's true that he'd starred in a lot of fast-pitch softball. Oddly, enough, the summer of 1970 he'd led the Granite City park district's fast-pitch league in homers; he averaged two per seven inning contest.

So, when Coach Lee inaugurated fall baseball workouts in 1970 at SIUE, Champ Summers decided to give the hardball version of the diamond sports a look-see. Incidentally, Summers played a key role in the fashioning SIUE's first winning basketball season under the then new coach, Jim Dandley, in the 1970-71 campaign.

Now, 12 years later, Summers would like to play a change of scene, he feels that, if he can play every day, both right and left, unlike Sparky Anderson uses him at Detroit, he could hit 300 or better.

Says Champ, "As for my ranking the past two years, if I were to become a free agent this season I would have been ranked 22nd out of 142 players behind guys like Rod Carew, Mayberry, Lonzake, Fred Lynn, etc. Hard to believe, isn't it?"

"I ranked third as a designated hitter in the American League out of 19 DH's; my 'On Base' percentage was No. 1. I was sixth in Runs Batted In, I hit seven homers and ranked seventh in batting average. This is taken over the last two years and does not even include 1970 when I hit .313 with 20 fourbaggers in 240 times at bat."

The dinner for Roy Lee, SIUE's first baseball coach, and exciting baseball career for the "Old Gray Fox" as his many Cougar players dubbed him. Highlight of his career, from a professional standpoint, would be the short stint with the old New York Giants at the tail end of the 1945 National League season. But, he very probably treasures most his coaching record at St. Louis U. and at SIUE-Edwardsville.

Twice he directed the Bills to the finals of the Little World Series of collegiate baseball at Omaha. Three times, he called the shots for his SIUE-Cougars march to the NCAA's division II championship finals at Springfield, Ill., where his charges finished second, third and fifth.

Tickets for the dinner are: $25 per couple, $15 per person. Phone orders or tickets may be called to 452-0433 for those persons living in Illinois and St. Louis city residents call: 656-9192. Mail orders, checks made out "Lee Dinner," 2520 State Street, Granite City, Ill. 62040. Lee, who resigned as coach at SIUE three years ago, will be pitching coach for the Haymow-Civics and pinned Cahokia's Donnie Williams in 1:22. "You've got to give Corey a chance," laughed Whitaker. He didn't have enough time today to show how good he really is."

One of the most exciting bouts of the day didn't end on a happy note for North. Dean Hollis of Roxana trailed North's John Morris 5-0 going into the third period of their 185 pound bout. He got back to within 5-3 and then pinned Morris at 5:01. "He (Hollis) is very strong," said Milazzo. "Every match this year he's fallen behind and then won. If he could just learn to wrestle on his feet."

The showdown of the day took place in the 119 pound weight class and it was won by North's Steve Smith along with Roxana's Rob Warren and Cahokia Phil McIntyre. Smith is on of the top 119 pounders in the state. He edged McIntyre 1-0 and fought off Warren 5-4. In the bout against Warren, Smith took an early lead. really aggressive," Perkins said. Lincoln took back the tempo of the game third quarter. The Tigers made the early minutes of the quarter, and Venice missed the first four shots of the quarter, and Lincoln led 38-26 in the early minutes of the third quarter.

The other turning point of the game came when Venice's Harold Milton fouled out of the game. After that the Tigers controlled the boards.

"They killed us with a lot of boards. They were able to get the ball to Tod Porter and Mark Dale and score," Perkins said. Dale led the Tigers with 18 points, and Porter, Tyrone Jackson and Darryl Morgan all scored 12 points.

"We stayed with them because of quickness," Perkins said. "They really beat us on the boards."

SIUE wrestlers ready for tourney

EDWARDSVILLE — In the wake of one of their most impressive victories ever, and a full head of steam aiming towards their Feb. 26 date at the NCAA Division II Championship Tournament, SIUE's wrestling Cougars of Southern Illinois University

Corey was as near to being phenomenal as possible. He pinned Brian Spencer of Roxana in only 35 seconds and pinned Cahokia's Donnie Williams in 1:22. "You've got to give Corey a chance," laughed Whitaker. He didn't have enough time today to show how good he really is."

One of the most exciting bouts of the day didn't end on a happy note for North. Dean Hollis of Roxana trailed North's John Morris 5-0 going into the third period of their 185 pound bout. He got back to within 5-3 and then pinned Morris at 5:01. "He (Hollis) is very strong," said Milazzo. "Every match this year he's fallen behind and then won. If he could just learn to wrestle on his feet."

The showdown of the day took place in the 119 pound weight class and it was won by North's Steve Smith along with Roxana's Rob Warren and Cahokia Phil McIntyre. Smith is on of the top 119 pounders in the state. He edged McIntyre 1-0 and fought off Warren 5-4. In the bout against Warren, Smith took an early lead. He edged McIntyre 1-0 and fought off Warren 5-4.

really aggressive," Perkins said. Lincoln took back the tempo of the game third quarter. The Tigers made the early minutes of the quarter, and Venice missed the first four shots of the quarter, and Lincoln led 38-26 in the early minutes of the third quarter.

The other turning point of the game came when Venice's Harold Milton fouled out of the game. After that the Tigers controlled the boards.

"They killed us with a lot of boards. They were able to get the ball to Tod Porter and Mark Dale and score," Perkins said. Dale led the Tigers with 18 points, and Porter, Tyrone Jackson and Darryl Morgan all scored 12 points.

"We stayed with them because of quickness," Perkins said. "They really beat us on the boards."

at Edwardsville will be put to the test this week as they battle two of the best teams in the state, Eastern Illinois University and Western Illinois University.

The Cougars, who are currently sporting an impressive 7-3 dual meet record, will travel to Charleston, Thursday for a 7:30 p.m. match against the EIU Panthers before returning home Saturday to face the Leathernecks of Western Illinois in a scheduled 7:30 p.m. battle in the University Center.

Last weekend, in what has to give Head Coach Larry Kristoff reason to be optimistic about the 1982 NCAA-II Championships, the Cougars upset the 14-team field and walked away with the championship trophy at the Southwest Missouri State University Invitational Tournament. The Cougars, who had five of their 10 wrestlers reach the championship rounds, outdistanced the University of Missouri-Columbia, 134½-133½, for top honors. The defending NAIA National Champions from Central State University of Oklahoma took third place honors with 125½, while this week's opponents from Eastern Illinois captured fourth place with 104½. The University of Nebraska-Omaha took fifth place honors with 63½; while Augustana (S.D.) posted 58½, Southwest Missouri (47½), Ft. Hays State (41½), Central Missouri State (36½) and Northeast Missouri State (15½) rounded out the top 10 positions.

Individually, the Cougars were paced by heavyweight All-Stars. The freshman from Wheaton stunned the field when he pinned Rick Romeo of Missouri-Columbia in 1:09 for the tournament championship. Sear's victory also pushed the Cougars' point total over the top and provided the margin of victory for SIUE.

The Cougars also received outstanding performances from 118-pounder Steve Stearns, 126-pounder Don Stevens, 136-pounder Lewis Reed and 160-pounder Joe Glaser.

Snow closes schools, offices

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

A winter storm of the proportions that struck here during the weekend can have an unusual effect on law enforcement personnel and the people they serve, as local police were bound Saturday night, Sunday and today.

Nearly normal activity continued here Saturday, although intense rain caused passenger autos to stall in deep water along West Pontoon Road at 5:20 p.m. Traffic collisions occurred during the day's downpours and continued to occur as the temperature dropped below freezing.

Large snowflakes began to fall in the early evening Saturday and continued throughout the night. A few arrests and investigations were made during the early morning hours Sunday, but then a kind of calm settled on the entire community. Most families heeded broadcast advice to stay home due to the snowfall of more than a foot in depth.

Quad-City area public and parochial schools closed today due to the difficult driving and parking conditions. Also closed were Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, Washington University, the University of Missouri at St. Louis and numerous other schools and colleges, plus a number of agencies, businesses and offices.

Only about a tenth of the scheduled BI-State buses operated Sunday, and it was decided to cancel all area metropolitan area bus routes for today. "Please stay home" remained the advice being given to the public.

The immensity of the storm became apparent here early Sunday. Police patrol cars became mired in snow at 2:30 a.m. Sunday in the 2700 block of Sunset Drive and at 6:25 a.m. Sunday at 19th Street and Edison Avenue.

Patrol routes were curtailed to a degree as residential areas became impassable. Many people's autos became stuck in the snow even in the middle of streets that had attracted considerable traffic.

Street crews worked hard to clear the snow, concentrating on major arteries. Some individuals and companies with access to construction equipment or conventional snowplows helped clear streets and driveways, but many persons were marooned at their homes. Numerous school, university and business closings were scheduled for today.

Towering piles of snow, some more than six feet tall, developed due to the work of the snowplows and also due to high winds that created drifts. Sidewalks remained difficult to traverse this morning and many persons walked down the middle of streets to reach their destinations.

In addition to the deep snow, there were other weather oddities. Lightning and thunder occurred during the early morning hours Saturday night, and there were patches of thick fog before dawn today, hampering motorists. The first report of youngsters throwing snowballs was recorded at 8:55 p.m. Saturday in the Kirkpatrick Homes area. Officers checked on snowmobile complaints in the 2200 to 2400 blocks of Washington Avenue shortly before 10 p.m.

Granite City police notified Illinois State Police at 2 a.m. Sunday that high snow drifts were developing along Illinois Route Three. The four-lane highway skirts the western side of the Quad-City area from the McKinley Bridge in Venice to Interstate 270 in Mitchell.

Vehicles were reported stuck in snow at 2:35 a.m. Sunday at Nameki Road and St. Clair Avenue and at 3:10 a.m. Sunday in the 3100 block of Madison Avenue. Ambulances were dispatched at 3:40 a.m. to the El Gato tavern and at 3:50 a.m. Sunday to the Jaycee building.

Because of drifting, the usually busy Poplar Street Bridge carrying Interstates 70 and 55 was limited to one lane of traffic each way on Sunday.

Police in Granite City at 2 p.m. Sunday freed their seven prisoners on notices to appear later for the hearings on misdemeanor charges, mainly disorderly conduct.

Several cars became mired in snow in the 1900 block of Delmar Avenue and elsewhere as motorists sought to report for work today.

Adding to the storm-enforced isolation related to the decision to close many Illinois highways, including I-70 from East St. Louis to Effingham and also I-64, where many motorists became stranded Sunday and were temporarily accommodated at Washington Park and East St. Louis police buildings.

Some area college students home for the weekend had to extend their visits today due to reports that the storm had taken a heavy toll not only locally but in all four directions from here.

The weather bureau's official tally showed 13.9 inches of snow, and there were reports of nearly 18 inches in some parts of the St. Louis metropolitan area, not counting countless drifts several feet deep. Centralia, Ill., had 22 inches of snow, and local families checked on road conditions and contacted relatives and friends, telephone lines were overloaded and there was a delay in obtaining dial tones Sunday and again today.

The temperature was in the 40s on Saturday and had fallen to 28 degrees at midnight Saturday night. The temperature continued to fall Sunday, reaching eight degrees during the evening, and was two degrees below zero at 6 a.m. today, later climbing to zero and then into the teens in the late morning today.

It was expected that the low temperature tonight may be 15, with a high of 20 or 28 degrees tomorrow, although the mantle of snow tends to result in lower temperatures than otherwise would be the case.

Precipitation probability is 30 percent tonight and 70 percent tomorrow, leading to some concern that a "duplicate" of the weekend snowfall might occur.

The current prediction is for only two to four inches of additional snowfall tonight and Tuesday, but local residents recall the Saturday night forecast was for a mere one to three inches.

Among the plants and businesses closing today were Monsanto, Ralston-Purina, Maritz, Edison Brothers, the Ford-Mercury assembly plant in Hazelwood, and some divisions of McDonnell Douglas.

Past year seventh wettest of century

(Illinois State Water Survey Division)

The 1981 precipitation in Illinois ranged from normal in extreme Southern Illinois, to well above normal in all other portions; 1981 was the seventh wettest year of this century.

The state average precipitation was 13 percent above normal, and 1981 marked the ninth year in the past 11 years with above normal precipitation. The only dry years statewide since 1970 have been 1976 and 1980.

As a result of the above normal 1981 precipitation, most of the Illinois water supplies, reservoirs, streams, and shallow groundwater—are at or well above normal levels in early 1982.

When 1981 started, Illinois was experiencing quite dry conditions in the southern half of the state; there were several dust storms in Central Illinois during the spring.

This was followed by record-breaking, heavy rains in May in Southern Illinois, with continuing above-normal rainfall in June, July and August, ending the water shortages.

The summer of 1981 was the wettest on record in parts of Central Illinois, where 20 to 25 inches of rain fell. Precipitation in the fall and in December was generally near normal across the state.

The outlook in the south central area is near normal from now through May.

St. Louis County Supervisor Gene McNary asked firms and organizations to schedule no employee traffic until 8 p.m. today, to enable road crews to continue their task of clearing streets and highways of snow drifts. Stalled autos and trucks complicated the clearing work.

A concert by British singer Rod Stewart last night at the Checkerdome was postponed until Feb. 17. Numerous musical events and meetings of groups scheduled throughout the metropolitan area were not held Sunday and today, including varied senior citizen activities.

Lambert Airport did not formally close but most airlines dropped all efforts to schedule landings or takeoffs Sunday. By last night, main Lambert runways had been cleared of deep snow. Repeated plowings had been necessary due to wind-drifted snow.

Was the fourth consecutive sub-zero January weekend a disaster? Opinions vary, but many concluded today that the weekend snow, wind and cold—although not establishing new records—had caused a profound impact on their daily life.

The total impact has not yet been assessed, and Quad-Cityans are casting a wary eye at the sky to the west and southwest, wondering what is in store for the remainder of this week.

One consolation is that many will have a lot to tell their fascinated children and grandchildren when they look back in some future year and tell their recollections of the "that awful winter of '82."

Alreedy, it is becoming reminiscent of some of the severe winters of the late 1970s.

Seek merger of savings & loans

The board's directors of Columbia Savings and Loan Association of Columbia, Ill., and of Illinois Federal Savings and Loan Association of Fairview Heights have announced that an application to merge the two associations has been filed with the Federal Home Loan Bank of Chicago.

The effective date of the merger would be the first of the month following final approval from the Bank Board, which is expected to be received following completion of the formal regulatory merger proceedings.

Columbia Savings, with assets of almost $6 million has served the residents of Columbia and Monroe County for nearly 70 years. Ninety-seven year old Elmer Federal, with assets of nearly $280 million, currently has six offices serving the Southern Illinois area.

The Columbia office, located at 238 North Main Street will be retained at its present location. Remodeling will begin shortly to facilitate the installation of Illinois' on-line data processing equipment and to provide more space.

In a related development, four directors were re-elected to the Board of Directors of Illinois Federal at the association's 97th annual members meeting. Elected were Dr. Kenneth A. Shaw, chancellor of Southern Illinois University; Dr. Gordon F. Moore, surgeon; William L. Wimmer Jr., a retired contractor, and Mel W. Stonecipher, a retired savings and loan executive.

Fire protection for East Madison

Fire protection to East Madison and Cloverleaf areas of Nameki Township has been secured beyond yesterday's cutoff date issued earlier by the Madison Fire Department, according to Harry Briggs, township superintendent.

Briggs said he met Friday with the Illinois Fire Marshal's office and Saturday with the State Park fire department to reach agreement for temporary fire protection to the affected Nameki residents.

These residents will now be protected by the State Park fire district until more permanent arrangements are made. State Park has an average response time of eight minutes in good weather.

The state fire marshal plans to meet with all surrounding district officials this week to decide what course of action to take next. The East Madison and Cloverleaf areas will probably have to form their own fire district in the near future.

Residents in the area have already formed a citizen's committee to study the problem of fire protection. There are approximately 300 residents in that area. A separate fire protection district could mean a tax of 12.5 cents per $100 assessed evaluation.

The Madison Fire Department had given East Madison and Cloverleaf residents until midnight last Sunday to find other means of fire protection.

Madison has maintained that they are owed at least $20,000 in unpaid fire calls to the unprotected Nameki area dating back to the early 1970s.

Madison does have signed fire protection contracts with some business places in the area.

The Madison Fire Department will now respond only after the assigned fire department is on the scene and needs assistance, according to a Madison fire spokesman. Madison was charging $500 per call which they maintained did not meet all costs.

Funds sought for teacher pensions

State Superintendent of Education Donald G. Gill is recommending FY 83 (fiscal year) appropriations of $2.1 billion from state general funds for elementary, secondary, vocational and adult education.

His recommendation calls for an increase over FY 82 appropriations of $175.6 million, of which $140.7 million or 80.2 percent is for teachers' retirement systems.

The superintendent prepared his preliminary recommendations for presentation to the State Board of Education's Budget Committee, Thursday. He said his budget attempts to meet as many of the needs of schools as possible, while giving consideration to the precarious nature of state finances.

An assessment completed earlier by the State Board showed that—to meet the needs of Illinois schools—the state would have to increase appropriations by more than $230 million.

"My preliminary budget recommendation, unfortunately, would leave a lot of unmet needs in our schools. But in light of economic indicators, this appears to be as much as we can realistically expect to receive next year," Gill said.

"While this proposal calls for an 8.2 percent increase in appropriations, funds for education programs and services would be increased by only 1.7 percent, since most of the overall increase is for retirement funds," Gill explained that the large increase for retirement is necessary to meet pay-out levels for FY 83. The retirement systems received substantial cuts in their FY 82 budgets.

General state aid would be maintained at the FY 82 (July 1981-June 1982) level under Gill's proposal. While state aid appropriations would not be increased, local increases in assessed valuation, coupled with enrollment declines, could raise the per-pupil support level by about $20. The majority of the increases for programs in Gill's recommendation would be for categorical programs which are reimbursed through statutory formulas.

The funding proposal would allow 90 percent reimbursement of claims for all statutory formula categories, except three—the two orphanage programs would be fully funded, and regular and vocational transportation would be maintained at the FY 82 level, resulting in 86 percent reimbursement.

All non-statutory formula categorical programs would remain at FY 82 appropriations, except transitional bilingual education. The mandated bilingual programs would be increased from FY 82 and restored to their FY 81 levels.

Dr. Gill stressed that his budget recommendations are "preliminary." "We have a fairly reliable picture of the resource needs for FY 83," he said, "but we have only limited and tentative information on the availability of resources."

The board's budget panel will hold a public hearing Feb. 16 to obtain comments on his preliminary recommendations. The hearing is scheduled at 10 a.m. in the board's boardroom, 100 N. 1st St., Springfield.

Following the hearing, the committee will meet at 2 p.m. to consider the recommendations and comments and to decide on a budget to recommend to the full board.

The superintendent said his recommendations at this time contain no appropriations for new initiatives. He added that he expects the board to discuss the need for new initiatives in its budget process, and said recommendations for reallocations or increases could occur.

N&W commits $185 million to improvements in 1982

Norfolk and Western Railway will spend $185 million in 1982 on capital improvements to its system, an increase of $57.3 million over the estimated 1981 total of $128.1 million, Robert B. Clayton, NW's president and chief executive officer, has announced.

The bulk of the 1982 program, $106.1 million, represents expenditures either authorized or begun in earlier years. The remaining $79.3 million is for new projects. Spending for 1982 is divided into $106.3 million for roadway projects and $79.2 million for equipment.

The proposed consolidation with Southern Railway, on which an Interstate Commerce Commission decision is expected in the first quarter of 1982, is reflected in NW's capital improvements program. The largest item, a new item of expense is $29.9 million for 25 high adhesion, fuel-efficient diesel locomotives needed, Clayton said, to handle an expected increase in traffic following the consolidation.

NW also has earmarked $8.6 million for the construction of a new intermodal facility in Chicago. It will handle expected increased piggyback traffic between the upper Midwest and the Southeast. The new facility includes two cranes, extensive trailer parking areas, an office building, and related track and signal work.

Another project in the budget relating to the consolidation is the completion, at a cost of $8.5 million, of the upgrading work on the 66-mile Fort Wayne-Muncie line in Indiana, which will be a major north-south line for the combined system.

Work also will continue on new yard and facility at Wentzville, Mo., where General Motors is building a new assembly plant. NW has budgeted $14.3 million for this purpose in 1982.

NW's continued commitment to coal is reflected in the budget as well, Clayton said. NW will build 1,214 open-top hopper cars in 1982. It also has plans, the remainder of an order of more than 1,600 cars begun last year. The 1982 work will cost approximately $41 million.

In the fields of energy and pollution abatement, NW will spend a total of $4.3 million. The largest single item is $2.5 million to develop and install, at 18 major locations on the railroad, a system which will provide physical and accounting controls on diesel fuel use. NW hopes to provide significant energy savings.

NW will install 150 miles of new and 165 miles of rail in 1982 at a capital cost of $7.1 million.

BETTER PUPIL FITNESS will be the major emphasis in Madison School District 12 during the month of February and stressed throughout the school year. Reviewing the plans for the numerous activities are, from the left, Madison Mayor Mike Sasyk; Venice Mayor Tyrone Echols; Mrs. Delores Folkert, curriculum director for the schools; and William J. Donovan, Madison Senior Citizens' Club; Sam Dymas, school board president, and John Palchoff, superintendent of schools in Madison. On the committee, but not present when the picture was taken, is Marion Guest, president of the Venice Silver Bells Senior Citizens' Club. About 350 children who live in Venice are in the Madison school district. The plan developed by Mrs. Folkert calls for a combined effort of citizens, parents, government and school officials finding ways to enlarge the scope of physical education programs. Several community organizations are supporting the program with gifts of materials and money. Groups or individuals wishing to help with the program are being asked to contact their nearest principal.

Castle quits Commerce post

Governor James R. Thompson has announced that he has accepted "with regret" the resignation of John Castle as director of the Department of Commerce and Community Affairs, effective Feb. 15.

Thompson also announced that Peter Fox, DCA's assistant director, will succeed Castle as director. "John Castle has done a fine job as director of this new agency. He has nursed it from its beginning 2 1/2 years ago until it is now an effective tool in helping our state continue to improve its economic condition. I appreciate John's desire to attend to his family and business interests and thank him for serving in my cabinet longer than he had originally intended," Thompson said.

"Peter Fox is an outstanding successor. He is young, bright, articulate, aggressive and has excellent relations with the business community. I know he will do an excellent job in continuing the efforts of the Department."

Castle, 46, has served as DCA director since October 1979. He also has served in other cabinet positions, both as director of the Department of Business and Economic Development from May 1979 until October 1979 and as director of the Department of Local Government Affairs from 1977-79. The latter two departments were merged into DCCA along with the Governor's Office of Manpower and Human Development. Castle also has been a special assistant attorney general and active in DeKalb business and civic affairs.

Fox, 30, has been with the department since August 1980. Prior to that, he worked at the Continental Bank and Lehman Brothers Kuhn Loeb, both of Chicago and member of Illinois in Champagne.

Fox, of Champagne, will earn an annual salary of $46,000 as director. The position requires Senate confirmation.

Service award to Vadalabene

Senator Sam Vadalabene, veteran legislator from the 56th District was the recipient of a Service Award from the Illinois Land Improvement Contractors Association, at the Springfield Hilton in Springfield.

The award presentation was held in conjunction with the 25th Annual Convention of the Illinois Land Improvement Contractors Association held in Springfield. Vadalabene was recognized as a public servant who is dedicated to his duties as a Senator from the 56th District, as well as his promotion of soil and water conservation principals, and his support and assistance for the small businessmen such as the members of ILICA.

Vadalabene is chairman of the Committee of Veterans Affairs, and also chairman of Executive Appointments. He is vice chairman of appropriations and membership of Executive, Insurance and Higher Education. He is also vice chairman of the powerful Motor Vehicle Laws Commission. Senator Sam's door is always open to his constituents to discuss their problems.

Parochial teachers complete training

Quad-City area parochial teachers completed 26 hours of Teacher Training in the STET (Systematic Training for Effective Teaching) Program, at a meeting held at Sacred Heart St. Joseph's School, during the weekend. STET was initiated into the parochial schools of St. Margaret, Mary, St. Elizabeth, St. Mary-St. Mark, Madison Venice, and Sacred Heart St. Joseph, last August.

STET operated under a Title IV-C federal grant program which provided 26 hours of teacher training, with 47 administrators and teachers taking part in the program, under the leadership of Sisters Louise O'Connor and Joanne Hanrahan, consultants from the Maria Center in St. Louis.

The program helped foster respect among students, parents and teachers by employing different methods of the program, it was noted. "I have become a more positive, supportive person in all my relationships. I have learned to encourage instead of praise," one teacher said.

"I believe that I have benefited as much as the children from this program. STET has given me a deeper insight into my students and a greater understanding of another's feelings. The children seem to be more confident and more willing to try and settle their little differences among themselves," another added.

Sister Joanne Hanrahan and Sister Louise O'Connor will speak on the topic, "How to Encourage Self-Esteem in Your Child," relating to STET, at the Madison County Institute on Friday, March 26.

Broad backing, praise for local United Way

By BILL WINTER

A strong vote of confidence in the Tri-Cities Area United Way—and its "safety net" of helping people survive the cold weather, such as giving blankets and space heaters. The Springfield Catholic Diocese has provided more than $4,000 in food for the Quad-Cities.

"Coordinated Youth Services and the Women, Infants and Children program also have been active. But with the high level of unemployment, undoubtedly some needs are not being met."

A general discussion by the breakfast group brought out that only two physicians currently are accepting new patients whose care is financed by public assistance. Factors cited were delays in forwarding payments, limitations on aid, "red tape" and instances in which there are rulings of ineligibility.

There are no advantages in future organizational demands due to the inefficiency of the local United Way, it was asserted. And there would be many disadvantages—and a loss of accountability and motivation—if the community gave up a majority voice in deciding how to solve local problems, it was contended.

Donovan summed up by saying that the Quad-City area through its United Way has been "absolutely fantastic" in its accomplishments. Pres. Terrell said that there is no threat to continuation of the local United Way could be carried out only "over my dead body."

He said that he-like other people—has many other demands on his time, but that it is important that each person make sacrifices to support and assist the United Way in this "million-dollar community" (his estimate of the scope of UW drives in the foreseeable future).

Each person is a creature of God who is deserving of our best effort. As part of the United Way, we accept the responsibility for helping each person to maintain his or her dignity."

Miller, a veteran of 20 years' Navy service, pointed out that he became a member of the UW team here in 1976 as AFL-CIO community services director.

After joining the Madison County staff administering the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act in 1980, he has rejoined the United Way as its executive director, working with a 36-member board.

Each member executive board, 22-member allocation and budget committee and five-member priorities and planning committee.

"With federal dollars declining, it will be necessary to make more positive use of volunteer providing human services, and we are gearing for this through a five-year plan.

"Private industry will play a bigger role in coordinating clothing and food assistance, in cooperation with the Urban League in Venice.

"We have been working through the Salvation Army in helping people survive the cold weather, such as giving blankets and space heaters. The Springfield Catholic Diocese has provided more than $4,000 in food for the Quad-Cities."

"Coordinated Youth Services and the Women, Infants and Children program also have been active. But with the high level of unemployment, undoubtedly some needs are not being met."

A general discussion by the breakfast group brought out that only two physicians currently are accepting new patients whose care is financed by public assistance. Factors cited were delays in forwarding payments, limitations on aid, "red tape" and instances in which there are rulings of ineligibility.

There are no advantages in future organizational demands due to the inefficiency of the local United Way, it was asserted.

And there would be many disadvantages—and a loss of accountability and motivation—if the community gave up a majority voice in deciding how to solve local problems, it was contended.

Donovan summed up by saying that the Quad-City area through its United Way has been "absolutely fantastic" in its accomplishments.

Pres. Terrell said that there is no threat to continuation of the local United Way could be carried out only "over my dead body."

He said that he-like other people—has many other demands on his time, but that it is important that each person make sacrifices to support and assist the United Way in this "million-dollar community" (his estimate of the scope of UW drives in the foreseeable future).

Each person is a creature of God who is deserving of our best effort. As part of the United Way, we accept the responsibility for helping each person to maintain his or her dignity."

Miller, a veteran of 20 years' Navy service, pointed out that he became a member of the UW team here in 1976 as AFL-CIO community services director.

After joining the Madison County staff administering the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act in 1980, he has rejoined the United Way as its executive director, working with a 36-member board.

Each member executive board, 22-member allocation and budget committee and five-member priorities and planning committee.

"With federal dollars declining, it will be necessary to make more positive use of volunteer providing human services, and we are gearing for this through a five-year plan.

"Private industry will play a bigger role in coordinating clothing and food assistance, in cooperation with the Urban League in Venice.

Republican Senate filing

A Republican filed for the local Illinois Senate seat but there were few surprises during the delayed filing period that ended last week.

In the 56th Senate district, the March 16 Democratic primary rivals are Sen. Sam Vadalabene, Edwardsville incumbent, and Michael Manning of Granite City. Running in the Republican primary is Richard "Rick" M. Moulton Jr. of Moro.

The same territory as the Senate district currently is represented in the Illinois House by Sam Wolf, D-Granite City, Jim McPike, D-Alton, and Everett Steele, R-Glen Carbon.

Reapportionment and the scheduled reduction from 177 to 118 members has resulted in creation of 111 new one-member House districts instead of 59 three-member districts.

In the southern half of the 56th Senate district, known until now as the 56th Legislative District, the 11th House District attracted two Democratic candidates, Rep. Wolf and Leo T. Pelek of Granite City. Rep. Steele is not seeking reelection, and no other Republicans filed.

The 11th includes Granite City, Venice, Nameoli, Chouteau, Edwardsville, Pin Oak, and Ophphelt townships.

The northern portion of the senate territory will be called the 112th House District and includes the Alton, Godfrey, Wood River and Fort Russell townships of Madison County.

Running there are Rep. Mike in the Democratic primary and Jon R. Walker of Moro, a Laclede Steel Co. lobbyist, in the Republican primary.

Top ballot positions were assigned to Rep. Wolf and Sen. Vadalabene because they filed first.

Democratic rivals for the Illinois Senate in the big 56th District, which includes this county's Collinsville, Jarry St. Jacob and Helvetia townships, are Circuit Clerk Willard W. "Bugs" Portell of Collinsville, David Vaughn of Fairview Heights, a son-in-law of former Gov. Daniel Walker, and Herbert B. Schramm of Trenton.

In the 55th Republican primary, Rep. Frank C. Watson of Greenville will be unopposed for the Senate nomination.

Sen. James H. Donnewald of the 56th is running for state's attorney on the Illinois Democratic ticket.

TWO TRANSFERRED TO MADISON COUNTY JAIL
Michael J. "Mathews" Schalk, 20, booked at 3:45 a.m. Friday in Granite City on two property damage warrants and a warrant for state's attorney on the Illinois Democratic ticket.

He was transferred to the Madison County jail along with Tony "Mathews" Schalk, 19, of 2218 Grand Ave., taken into custody at the same time on two 1981 warrants alleging property damage. The latter's bond was set at $250. The arrests were made at Nidderhous and Edison avenues.

On Jan. 23, Kimberly Murrell became the 12 millionth person to ride the Arch train system to the top of the Gateway Arch. She was also 12 years old that day.

Kimberly is the daughter of Major and Mrs. Paul Murrell of Scott Air Force Base. Her birthday surprise included a plaque commemorating the occasion and a lifetime pass to the top of the Arch.

"I like it better than the Washington Monument, but I'm not putting the Monument down," Kimberly said. Mrs. Murrell agreed, saying she was "pleasantly surprised at the large room and spectacular view from the top."

The Murrells, including their two other children, Jennifer, eight, and Warren, 14, had been touring the riverfront Saturday and decided to visit the Arch on the spur of the moment.

Kimberly had tried to take the train ride the day after Thanksgiving but found that it was sold out. As they bought their tickets, the turnstile clicked over the 12 million mark.

The Arch train system is the only one of its kind in the world. Each transporter consists of eight barrel-shaped capsules joined together in a train that runs on special tracks up the hill.

George Burditt to head Edgar campaign

Secretary of State Jim Edgar has announced that George M. Burditt, immediate past president of the Chicago Bar Assn., will serve as general chairman of Edgar's campaign to retain his office in the Nov. 2 election.

Edgar also disclosed that, Karl D. Bays, chairman and chief executive officer of American Hospital Supply Corp., will serve as campaign finance chairman, and Walter (Bud) Lohman, chairman of the First National Bank of Springfield, as campaign treasurer.

"I am proud to take a leadership role in the Edgar campaign," Burditt told a press conference in the Bismarck Hotel. "I am proud to be associated with the superb record Edgar has built after only one year in office—a year of landmark achievements in traffic safety, a new tougher drunk driving law and an ambulance safety inspection law—as well as numerous other accomplishments. There is no doubt in my mind—no whatever—that Jim Edgar's record, and his blueprint for further progress, will earn him an overwhelming victory in November."

Burditt, a senior partner in the Loop law firm of Burditt & Calkins, was known as "Mr. Ethics" during the eight years he served in the Illinois House, the last two as assistant majority leader. He was the Republican candidate for the U.S. Senate in 1974, the year he left the general Assembly. Burditt is general counsel of the Food and Drug Law Institute, a director of Gerber Products Co., president of the Harvard Law Society of Illinois, former board chairman of Citizens of Greater Chicago, a former president of the Chicago Junior Assn. of Commerce and Industry; a trustee of Fourth Presbyterian Church of Chicago; and a director of Martin Luther King Jr. Boys Club.

Bays, who has been associated with American Hospital Supply Corp. for 24 years, is a director of Northern Trust Corp., International Harvester Co., Jewel Co., Inc., Standard Oil Co., and Delta Air Lines. He also is a trustee of Northwestern University, Duke University and Lake Forest Hospital.

Lohman is chairman of the Association of Modern Banking in Illinois and serves on the board of Memorial Medical Center in Springfield. He also is a trustee of Illinois Wesleyan University in Bloomington.

Battle for spots on College Bowl

Nine students will battle for a spot on the five-member team that will represent Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville at the regional College Bowl Tournament.

The regional tournament is Feb. 5 to 7 at the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign. The nine students eligible to participate in the play-offs were determined by local competition held recently at the university. The five members of the winning team and the four top scorers from other teams were chosen for the play-offs.

Members of the winning team, the EX-G's, were: Robert Meyer of Bethalto, Rich McCune of Edwardsville, Leslie Ramee of East Alton, Bob Stoeck of South Roxana and Ken Wolf of Wood River.

The four top scorers from the other teams were Dave Brown of Roxana, Brad Jines of Peoria, Bruce Heyen of Medora and Kathy Slivka of Edwardsville.

College Bowl, the "varsity sport of the mind," is a quiz bowl, in which teams of four players on each team. The teams score points for correctly answering questions asked by the moderator. The team with the most points at the end of the game is the winner.

The questions cover a variety of subjects, ranging from arts, sciences, literature, history and music to current events and sports. The College Bowl Tournament at SIUE is sponsored by the University Center, office of the vice-president and provost, and the University Center Board.

College is a family affair for 3 Rudders

By MARY BRASE

Cynthia Rudder is getting used to the blank stares she gets when people learn she lives with her family at Tower Lake Apartments, the student housing complex at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

SIUE is known as a commuter campus, and it is not unusual for students to live with their parents at home while attending classes.

"It's the second answer that gets them," Miss Rudder said. The 19-year-old sophomore in special education not only lives on the campus with her family, she goes to college with them. The results have been bargain prices and straight A's for all.

College on the family plan started a year ago when the Rudders' oldest child finished 12th grade and wanted to continue her education. Instead of sending Cynthia off to school like other parents, the Rudders decided to go to college with her.

Larry Rudder, her father, took a break from his traveling gospel ministry based in Granite City and in Belleville, Mich., to earn a master's degree in marriage and family counseling.

"It took me 13 years to get my bachelor's degree in history and government in 1970, but I wanted more training in psychology and counseling for the ministry," he said.

The family, including two younger brothers, lived out of a great van the last 10 years, moving its musical program of evangelism and devotionism to a new church each week.

"We have always been a close family, but packed in that van, we had to be," Rudder said. "Fifty percent of the time we all slept in the same bedroom — whatever the host church provided. Not having a place to 'root' is different, but it worked for us," he said.

Jeanette Rudder, Cynthia's mother, is the pianist for the group and translates her husband's original songs to standard musical notes. Rudder writes her own gospel music and sings, but he cannot read music.

All three children, including Doug, 14, and John, 12, join in the singing and teaching.

Before the move to the local campus, Mrs. Rudder had not been inside a classroom since she graduated first in her class of two at a mission school in Zaire (Belgian Congo), where her parents were missionaries.

The lure of a psychology degree to improve the ministry team — and the opportunity to add to her own security — brought her back to "Going to class" is also a new experience for Cynthia, who never attended a regular high school. While she serves as part-time pastor at a Bunker Hill church.

"It is over 100 years old and still in good shape, but it is helping us and we're helping them," he said. In between, the pastor changes to a substitute in the Granite City schools, teaching everything from kindergarten PE to pom pom club in high school.

Even the boys, too young to attend regular college classes, get more than their share of education, Mrs. Rudder thinks.

"Where else can they play with children from Iran, Saudi Arabia, India, Panama, Bolivia and Edwardsville, all in the same afternoon? It is such a cosmopolitan community for them to experience," she said. "We can no longer go out to the world, but they bring the world here."

The Rudders' biggest adjustment to college family life, particularly for Mrs. Rudder, came last fall when students returned to classes. "I had gone from the extension classes in Granite City to summer school. But when I saw the horde of students on the first day of the fall quarter, I almost panicked," she said.

"After a quarter or so, you adjust. 'Now, when somebody looks lost, I just walk in and tell them where to find it.' When the family graduates, the Rudders may start together in a seminar-type program for churches or concentrate on

If the Rudders hoped to "cut corners" by trading papers or splitting homework, that part of the family plan has never worked out.

"We had one health class together," Mrs. Rudder said of her daughter, and it will probably be the only one.

This fall, mother and daughter were both inducted into the Dean's College, the undergraduate honors program at SIUE. Admission allows students with 4.5 grade point averages or better to plan individualized programs with a teacher in their major field, bypassing the usual general studies requirements the two might have shared.

"Larry and I took one course together, but I received no credit," Mrs. Rudder said, a freshman, remembers.

"It was a graduate course in marriage counseling, and the professor was a woman who would not have any couples in the daytime class. He needed examples," she said.

Acting the part of a daily student, Mrs. Rudder went to class and pretended to be angry with her husband whenever the teacher asked, "We would come back from the break and start an argument. The other student didn't know, but they always sided with me," she recalled.

Outside class, when the Rudders do their homework, they also go their separate ways.

Cynthia, who takes 16 hours of regular daytime classes, retreats to her own room with the books. It is the one improvement she considers a major step up from her van days. "It's the first time I've ever had a room to myself with only one door," she said.

Mrs. Rudder signs up for 12 hours of evening classes and saves some daytime hours for studying while the boys are in school.

Her husband, who finished his master's degree this fall at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, is in the specialist program and works as a graduate assistant. He gets the kitchen table at night after everyone is asleep.

"He also gets the supper dishes," Mrs. Rudder emphasizes. Cynthia, who Rudder has drawn since his boyhood, has been turned into something more. "I wrote two songs while I was doing the dishes," he said.

One of his tunes, "God Gave a Baby," is the theme of a local nightclub group. Rudder said, "I'm sure the patrons don't know the words."

Matta has published other songs in a series of songbooks, and recorded some in albums produced in Nashville, Tennessee, and none of the other cookies appear to be altered.

Matta, 41, has been a chemistry professor at SIUE since 1969 and has been chairman of the department for about 18 months.

COLLEGE ON THE FAMILY PLAN. The Rudders, 19-year old Cynthia and her parents, Jeanette and Larry, leave Tower Lake Apartments for classes. The family, which includes two brothers too young for formal classes, goes to SIUE and makes straight A's together.

SIUE enrollment continues to increase

Another increase in student enrollment was reported last week at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. Eugene Magac, director of the Office of Admissions and Records, said winter quarter enrollment is up by 350 students or nearly 3.9 percent over last year's third quarter.

Enrollment stands at 9,401, compared with 9,051 in winter quarter 1981. Magac said this is the sixty consecutive quarter that the university has shown an increase over the previous year's comparable quarter. Fall quarter, traditionally the term with highest attendance, had an enrollment of 10,205.

The total is an "on-campus" figure which includes the Alton and East St. Louis centers and resident centers at Greenville, Litchfield and Scott Air Force Base. It does not include students enrolled in non-credit continuing education courses or those enrolled in off-campus nursing programs located at Marion and Mt. Vernon and students attending classes at Military Air Force Base. It does not include students enrolled in non-credit continuing education courses or those enrolled in off-campus nursing programs located at Marion and Mt. Vernon and students attending classes at Military Air Force Base.

Magac said the graduate school has the greatest gain over winter quarter a year ago, with 1,736 students compared with 1,615 enrolled in 1981. There is a sizeable increase in part-time enrollment, and Magac said he expects the final data to show that many residents of Missouri are taking advantage of the university's new plan which provides in-state tuition rates for Missourians who enroll for nine hours or less of graduate or undergraduate credit.

Substantial enrollment gains also were recorded by the School of Business, with 1,232 students compared with 1,113 last year, and the School of Fine Arts and Communications, where an increase of 60 boosted enrollment to 731. Other schools with increases included education, dental medicine, humanities, and science and engineering.

There also are additional presidential scholars and students enrolled in non-degree programs.

Gains in nearly all categories, Magac said, are the university's efforts to improve retention of students and encourage them to bear positive results. There are more students on campus this winter than any year since 1978, with a total of 4,984. But the females, numbering 4,707, still hold the edge they have maintained for the past three years.

Rules 1870 jail could be repaired

Associate Judge Jonathan Isbell has ruled that an agent of the City of Edwardsville could repair a hole in the roof and board up broken windows of the Madison County government's former jail, now 112 years old.

County funds are not to be used to maintain the building, nor is the county to bear liability, but the city may use privately-raised funds to do so, he said.

Mayor Kenneth Evers said no group has come forward with any money for work on the building. The county last year accepted a contract for demolition of the unused jail but Isbell decided Oct. 28 that the city has a right to preserve it as a historic landmark.

City Attorney Charles W. King unsuccessfully asked that the county be forced to finance repairs to prevent deterioration. Most aldermen now favor withdrawing from the dispute but they have not formally done so.

Assistant State's Attorney Marshall Smith argued Monday that the court has no jurisdiction because repairs were not sought in the original case, nor is there new evidence.

Isbell said the Illinois Conservation Act was not cited in the city's lawsuit so it cannot be the basis for a post-trial motion to allocate insurance payments.

He commented, "I cannot understand a theory of law whereby the city is entitled to insurance money paid to the county as a result of a tornado." But he added that allowing a private group to pay for maintenance during appeal proceedings is "persuasive."

The tornado occurred in April 1981. Insurance proceeds exceeded $8,000.

Rules 1870 jail could be repaired

Smith said Isbell lost jurisdiction as soon as the county appealed the earlier decision. Smith added that he now plans to file for a declaratory judgment to see if the alleged preservation right gives the city a real estate interest in the property.

Edwardsville Corporation Council Donald Metzger ruled earlier that the city does have a real estate interest. This was interpreted as requiring a vote by six of the eight aldermen in order to withdraw, rather than a five council members who presently want to leave it up to the County Board.

Judge Isbell said his written order will specify that insurance coverage for workers repairing the jail be paid for by the city, and that the repair plans first be approved by county officials.

He said he will not consider future requests for any other repair work to the 1870 jail.

Those sworn in by Portell included Gary Dale Browning of Mitchell and Elizabeth Stoguer of Shelby Smith, Leslie Childress, Sonya Niemeyer and Joseph Skowron, all of Granite City.

Six residents on grand jury

Madison County Circuit Judge A. Andreas Maloian empaneled six residents from grand jury duty Monday, according to Willard Portell, clerk of the circuit court.

Those sworn in by Portell included Gary Dale Browning of Mitchell and Elizabeth Stoguer of Shelby Smith, Leslie Childress, Sonya Niemeyer and Joseph Skowron, all of Granite City.

GC hospital outdoing others in low-cost, quality care

Good news sometimes comes in bunches, and this is just such an occasion. Statistics received in recent weeks from a number of sources indicate St. Elizabeth Medical Center compares favorably with other St. Louis metropolitan area hospitals in its ability to provide quality care while maintaining low costs and charges.

Data in both the St. Louis Business Journal and the American Hospital Association Guide's 1981 Edition analyze the number of full-time equivalent personnel per occupied patient bed in the 25 largest hospitals in this area.

The most highly-staffed hospital, Alton Memorial, had 5,298 full-time equivalent employees per occupied bed. Community Hospital, with the lowest staffing, had 2,764. Granite City's SEMC, with 3,494, was the third lowest of the 25, well below the average of 4,096.

The only two institutions with staffing lower than at SEMC, St. Mary's and Community, both are situated in East St. Louis, where it has been difficult to attract the number of professionals and para-professionals necessary to staff a hospital. A 1981 study here is continued progress regarding the number of man hours per patient day.

A separate areawide study by the Globe-Democrat compared newly upgraded rates for semi-private hospital rooms.

St. Mary's of East St. Louis had the highest per diem charge of $184 among 11 hospitals listed and Alton Memorial had the lowest, $144. St. Elizabeth Medical Center was the next to lowest; at $155, it is below the average of $164.

A hospital spokesman commented, "Maintenance of a low full-time equivalent ratio per occupied bed—along with a low per diem charge—points to efficient management of human resources by SEMC."

"The room charge also indicates that physical resources are being allocated and utilized wisely. Coupled with the high quality of care offered by the Granite City medical center, the data reflect the presence of effective, as well as efficient management."

Legislators err in separating selves from tax burdens

Sacramento Union—Jan. 13, 1982, may go down in history as the day when Congress ceased to be representative of the people and emerged as a privileged ruling class.

On that day the Internal Revenue Service, forced to do so by an act of Congress, issued rules that will allow senators and representatives to avoid paying federal income taxes on their $60,000 annual salaries.

The rules will permit them to deduct about $21,000 in expenses from income taxes. They can take special write-offs for living expenses in Washington. They do not have to itemize or prove the expenses, and can take them even for days they are out of Washington.

In addition, members of Congress can deduct much of the cost of their travel outside of Washington. Together with deductions available to all taxpayers, the new rules virtually eliminate income taxes on congressional and senatorial salaries.

They also made their loophole retroactive so they will be spared the inconvenience of paying taxes on their 1981 earnings.

Congress' tax exemption—slipped through during the closing days of the last session—is unfair and outrageous. Moreover, it is sure to lead to bad legislation and careless government.

If a person is not personally liable to income tax, he is more likely to "buy reelection" by voting benefits to special interests, than to raise taxes to pay for the generosity. That is a formula for ever-growing government.

The latest tax dodge is by no means Congress' sole greedy trick. It also exempted itself from Social Security taxes, preferring a gold-plated retirement system of its own.

That congressmen are immune to Social Security taxes goes far to explain why they blantly increase both benefits and the taxes to cover them. The result: Social Security has become the heaviest load on the backs of low-income workers.

It is obvious the members see themselves as lords who are too noble to pay taxes, and then to raise taxes to pay for the generosity. It is time we peasants wised up and got rid of those who design to rule us but not to share our burdens.

Lacked time for board campaign

To the Editor:

I am thankful to the friends who signed my petition for County Board member of District 16 in Chouteau Township.

Many friends asked me to seek the nomination. Many other friends asked me to withdraw my petition and keep the office of assessor.

After deep consideration of work I had to do in my office and field work between January and April, I decided to turn in — and after talking it over with my wife — I decided to withdraw my petition because I could not devote the time to my office and the campaign.

I consider being a County Board member a very important office. The member should work with the township officials and other bodies so that he can have knowledge of their work and needs.

I am thanking everyone for their support in the past and the future.

5 prisoners released early

Illinois Department of Corrections Director Michael P. Lane ordered 51 inmates released Friday because the state penal system was over its established capacity.

Lane pointed out that those inmates the agency is forced to release are within 28 days of completing their mandatory sentences and none had been in the state system before.

He added that those prisoners to be released will automatically begin parole supervision upon arrival in their home communities or authorized destinations, and that local authorities will be notified in accordance with law.

"This is only the fourth time in more than seven months that the department has been forced to implement this safety mechanism to relieve crowded conditions in adult prisons," Lane said.

Lane also noted that five inmates will be released Friday from the Dwight Correctional Center, the state's prison for violent offenders.

As in previous instances, no prisoners convicted of murder, Class X or Class One felonies are eligible for the forced release program, Lane pointed out.

"Even with the expansion of an additional 1,700 bed-spaces during 1981, the 13 adult institutions operated by the state remain at capacity," Lane said.

Hyperthermia: winter killer of the elderly and ailing

Relatives of Mary L. 87, discovered her unconscious when they arrived for Sunday dinner. The elderly woman was a victim of accidental hyperthermia, a drop in deep body temperature. The pilot light in her furnace had gone out. She went to sleep in an unheated house because she didn't want to bother anyone until morning.

Bob M., 68, died in his sleep shortly after he was released from a mental health facility for treatment of severe depression. Knowing his history, family members initially suspected the worst. However, an autopsy showed he was taking the prescription drug, chlorpromazine, for his emotional condition. That, in combination with his efforts to cut fuel bills by dialing down the thermostat, apparently resulted in the fatal hyperthermia.

Unfortunately, similar stories are published in newspapers across the country every winter. Accidental hyperthermia is one of the most serious, yet least-known, side effects of cold weather.

Room temperatures only as low as 60 to 65 degrees Fahrenheit can bring on accidental hyperthermia in susceptible individuals. In addition to cold temperatures, some authorities claim that certain prescription sedatives and tranquilizers may actually interfere with the body's efforts to control internal body temperature and thus result in the condition.

Hyperthermia is marked by abnormally low internal body temperatures, typically 95 degrees F. (35 degrees Celsius) or lower. The seemingly slight difference between that level and the average normal body temperature of 98.6 degrees F. (37 degrees Celsius) is significant.

Emergency medical help should be summoned if an individual's temperature does not register on a rectal or oral thermometer or is below 96 degrees F. (35 degrees Celsius).

Internal body temperatures of 90 degrees F. (32.2 degrees Celsius) are low enough to cause unconsciousness in some victims. Temperatures under 80 degrees F. (26.6 degrees Celsius) usually result in death, especially among the very old.

The most likely candidates for accidental hyperthermia are the chronically ill, the poor who are unable to afford enough heat and those who do not observe normal measures to keep warm.

The greatest risk is faced by the relatively small number of older Americans whose body temperature regulating mechanisms are defective.

The best and safest approach for dealing with hyperthermia is prevention. The following suggestions are good guides, especially for the elderly and others at high risk:

- Consider keeping room temperatures at least 65 degrees F. (70 degrees F. for very old people). To conserve fuel, the temperatures of unused rooms can be maintained at lower levels.
- Dress warmly during the day, eat an adequate diet and stay as active as possible.
- Avoid prolonged exposure to cold temperatures.
- Wear sufficient clothing and use enough blankets for comfort when in bed.
- Arrange to be visited or called by friends or neighbors every day during cold weather if you live alone or in an isolated area. Elderly persons should be sure to make such arrangements during severe cold spells.
- Consultations with the doctor to determine if any medication a patient is taking for anxiety, depression, nervousness or nausea might interfere with body temperature regulation is suggested.

Congregation hears '81 accomplishments

A "team ministry approach" to programs at the Nameoki United Presbyterian Church has proved beneficial, it was reported at last week's annual congregational meeting at the church.

A soup luncheon was provided and served by the Board of Deacons prior to the meeting.

Substantial progress in the work of teams, headed by members of the Session, the administrative board of the congregation, was reported by the Rev. Don F. Pierson, pastor.

He noted the team ministry provides the planning and direction of such programs as:

- Christian Education and Youth, directed by Mrs. Hezlie (Ruth) Todd; Worship and Sacraments led by Fred Hale (Muriel); Fostick; Pastoral Care and Membership, guided by Mrs. John (Minnie) Sigite; Building and Grounds, directed by Wilfred Wadsworth; Social Concerns and Community, coordinated by Kenneth Aud; Evangelism and Outreach led by Albert Bag; and Stewardship and Finance, headed by Earl French.

New members of the Session this year will be Fred Barr, Larry Haughey and Robert Steverson. They are replacing Mrs. William (Nona) Corzilius, Bag and Aud.

A 1982 "goal setting" for team members will take place at 8 p.m. Wednesday at the church, Pastor Pierson said.

The minister said an extensive ministry of compassion and fellowship was performed by the Board of Deacons during the past year under the guidance of Mrs. Dallas (Mary) Dame as president.

An all-wide-ranging ministry to the needy and shut-ins was supported by the congregation and monthly all-church fellowship events, planned by the deacons, enhanced the congregational lifestyle, he reported.

It was announced by Mrs. Todd, treasurer, a remodeling loan from the presbytery had been retired three years ahead of schedule and a major mission fund program was completed in 1981. A substantial increase in the 1982 Mission and Benevolence budget also was adopted by the congregation.

During the past year, a Crisis Center operated by church members was active in meeting local emergency family needs, it was reported.

"Peacemaking: The Believers' Calling" was the theme woven into the concerns of the congregation throughout the year, with members asked to work for peace in their families, their church, communities, the nation and the world, the pastor explained.

In a concern for the danger of an all-out nuclear arms race, the congregation unanimously approved a proposal calling for a mutual, verifiable move toward lessening the risk of nuclear war and the reduction of nuclear arsenals.

Leadership provided to several community organizations by church members was noted, including the pastor serving as president of the Quaker Ministers' Association; Mrs. Corzilius being installed as president of the Church Women United in the Quaker City; Mrs. Don (Marion) Pierson heading the Peacemaking Task Force of the Elijah P. Lovejoy Presbytery and Mrs. Victor (Louise) Anderson being active in the CWU's Red Cross Bloodmobile program.

"We cordially invite those in our community who are looking for a new church home to come and enjoy the fellowship and ministry being offered in the life of our church," the Rev. Pierson concluded.

Milton resigns post as park commissioner

Newly appointed Alderman Walter Milton resigned his position as a Granite City Park District Commissioner at a park district meeting last week.

Milton's resignation was effective last Friday. Milton officially became the new 18th Ward alderman today and will be sworn in Tuesday, May. Milton replaces former Alderman Mac Warfield, who has assumed the position of superintendent of streets.

"I have enjoyed being able to serve in the commissioner's position of the Granite City Park District for the past seven months," Milton stated in his resignation letter.

"As a citizen of Granite City for many years before becoming a commissioner of the Granite City Park District, I have supported the park district in many ways. It is my intention, as a private citizen, to work with you (the board) in any way possible in a much more relaxed manner as I have in past years."

Milton was appointed last summer to replace Commissioner David Nolan.

Nolan, administrative assistant to Mayor Paul Schuler, was appointed at Wednesday's meeting as a temporary assistant to Director Harold Brown, planning to retire in April. Nolan is expected to be appointed director of parks and recreation in May.

Park District President George Sykes said he would like to appoint a successor to Milton as quickly as possible, but did not expect the appointment to be made at the next park meeting in February.

When selected, the new commissioner will serve until April 1983, when a candidate must be elected to served the remaining two-year portion of Nolan's original term. Two six-year commissioner seats will also be vacant.

Ultrafiltered powder

helps cheesemakers
Cheesemakers can increase their efficiency and expand production by using ultrafiltered milk powder instead of fresh milk, researchers at Laval University in Quebec City contend.

Ultrafiltration involves passing milk through a very fine membrane. Large amounts of water are removed, leaving only the useful milk solids and thus reducing the volume of milk to be stored and processed when making cheese. In a cheddar-making study the milk volume was halved by ultrafiltration, making it possible to produce twice as much cheese in the same vat.

Eggshells are good fertilizer.

KEEP A COOKIE SHEET IN YOUR OVEN. AS YOU USE EGGS, PUT EGGSHELLS ON SHEET.

WHEN SHEET IS FULL, GRIND UP SHELLS WITH ROLLING PIN, OR POWDER IN BLENDER. SPRINKLE POWDERED SHELLS ON LAWN, IN GARDEN ETC. Note: Ground eggshells can also be fed to chickens.

Gould takes stab at TV

By ALAN L. GANSBERG

HOLLYWOOD — Can you imagine ELLIOTT GOULD married to ELIZABETH MONTGOMERY? "Sure," Elliott quips. "I can imagine that, but I can't imagine me married to BARBRA STREISAND."

Gould was caught between scenes shooting "The Rules of Marriage," a TV movie that will air during the 1982-83 season on CBS that also marks his first stab at such a TV vehicle.

"Rules" is described by 20th Century-Fox TV, which is producing, as the story of a solid marriage that disintegrates and then has to rebuild. It is written by Reginald Rose, known for well-done serious fare such as "The Defenders."

"I like working in television," Gould said he has found. "I work quickly, so the pace doesn't bother me."

For her part, Montgomery was relaxed on the set, clowing with the crew. The movie is part of her deal with CBS, which allows her to appear in a couple of such fare each season.

The season is over for PETER BARTON, but the ball game isn't. The young star of NBC's announced series "The Powers of Matthew Star" is out of the hospital, but still recovering from third-degree burns he received while filming. NBC has announced that the series will have a place on the 1982-83 schedule.

Backstage Report: One of the stars of "General Hospital" is telling friends all about ELIZABETH TAYLOR's performance behind the scenes on the ABC daytime drama. Seems Liz had trouble memorizing her lines.

During one scene, after several muffs of a sentence, she cried out in disgust, "I'm sorry. It's just that I've never acted before."

What did she mean by that? STEVE ALLEN's latest book is "Funny People," a look at the men and women who make us laugh. Besides offering Steve's assessment of the comedic styles of performers from WOODY ALLEN to ROBIN WILLIAMS, it also contains large chunks of the comedians' routines. Stein and Day are the publishers.

Can a woman make the move from window dresser to lawyer? VALERIE HARPER is going to try. She starred as dresser "Rhoda" for eight years and now she'll be making at TV movie about a lawyer that could go to series.

Meanwhile, actress JENNIFER WARREN, whose credits include such films as "Ice Castles" and "Slap Shot" is making the move into directing. She'll be working on "Keep On Sailing, Harry," a half-hour comedy produced through the women's directing workshop of the American Film Institute, which also put LEE GRANT behind the cameras, as well as DYAN CANNON.

He makes plenty of jokes about her, but GEORGE GOBEL was all smiles when he celebrated his 39th wedding anniversary to wife ALICE recently.

Planning stage ventures are ANSON WILLIAMS of "Happy Days" fame and RON GLASS of "Barney Miller." Anson is developing a musical version of "The Shroud of Turin," as a rock opera no less. Glass has his eyes set on portraying "Othello."

RICHARD CRENNNA has replaced KIRK DOUGLAS, who quit "First Blood," the film he was supposed to have made in Canada with SYLVESTER STALLONE. Crenna is also waiting word on whether his syndicated TV magazine, Look At Us will go for another season.
